Hanoi's Power Assessed

EDITOR'S NOTE: Associated Press staff member Daniel De Luce has just returned from a visit to North Vietnam. Here is his report on military aspects of the situation in the North as he was able to see it during an 18-day, 1,000 mile trip, the most extensive permitted to a Western newsman since the United States entered the war.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

The North Vietnam People's Army seems highly motivated and well equipped. It appears to have plenty of young manpower—and womenpower—to accomplish its tasks.

Those are the key military impressions from an 18-day visit to North Vietnam, made in the company of four escorts.

The bombing of the North stopped 16 months ago, but the watchword for all—army and people—is vigilance, an attitude that leaps out at the visitor from those aspects of North Vietnamese life he is permitted to observe.

What I saw and heard leaves the impression that the armed forces are capable of a long, tenacious war effort. That is their history, as they repeat it to a visitor. One thousand years of resistance to Chinese rule. Two hundred years spent fighting the Mongols. A hundred years against the French.

Now, sophisticated weapon systems and heavy arms are on hand from the Soviet Union. Light infantry weapons come in quantity from Red China.

Signs and slogans in every community I traveled through hail the army as the people's shield against "American imperialist aggression." Songs and poems are composed in the army's honor.

They are sung by hundreds of amateur choruses in free public entertainment in every province. North Vietnamese officials told me. In 18 days in the country, I saw two such performances—one in Hanoi and one near Dong Hoi in the south on the way to the demilitarized zone.

When the bombing was at its height, hundreds of thousands of civilians took part in air defense measures, I was told. The feeling of unity between army and people can hardly be doubted now in the austerity brought to the nation by its war effort.

Eleven days on the road out of Hanoi—to the demilitarized zone and back, thence to the port city of Haiphong and the coast near China—I saw troops passing in every direction in small numbers all day long. Significant? I don't know.

When infiltration by North Vietnamese regulars was claimed by the Americans to be at its height in 1967, they estimated 8,000 a month entering South Vietnam.

Their army trucks carry 24 soldiers. Just 12 trucks a day could carry more than 8,000 soldiers a month, if that's the way they went south in 1967.

Some of the soldiers rode bicycles of Chinese and local manufacture.

They decorated their vehicles with small bouquets of plastic flowers. Their bearing was alert, I could not talk with them. Weapons were not in evidence.

Senators Join In Vote Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Barry Goldwater and Edward M. Kennedy joined today in urging that the voting age be lowered to 18 years. They argued this can be done by federal law without any need for a constitutional amendment.

Goldwater, the Arizona Republican who was his party's presidential candidate in 1964, advised against trying to tie the proposal to controversial legislation now before the Senate to protect Negro voting rights.

He told a Senate judiciary subcommittee that to attempt to do so might endanger passage of the voting rights bill and at the very least would delay action on it.

Kennedy, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, has joined his chief, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, in co-sponsoring an 18-year-old vote amendment to the voting rights legislation, which is caught up in a dispute between an extension of the present law aimed primarily at the South and a nationwide bill urged by President Nixon.

The administration bill, which the House passed last December, includes a nationwide ban on voter literacy tests. It also would establish uniform residency requirements for voting in presidential elections.

Kennedy manitained that if Congress has the contitutional power to prohibit state literacy tests and to limit their residency requirements for voting, it also has the power to lower the voting age to 18.

He also said that the courts have indicated this could be done under the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment.

Only four states have a lower voting age than 21. Georgia and Kentucky permit 18-year-olds to vote, while Alaska has lowered the voting age to 19 and Hawaii to 20.

Goldwater testified that voting is a fundamental constitutional right and Congress, to protect it, may regulate state laws which deny that right unless the state laws are shown to have a compelling state interest.

"There simply is no compelling reason why a state has to deprive citizens who are between the ages of 18 and 21 of their right to vote," he said.

Laos Reds Offer Peace Program

LAOTIAN INCIDENT

Death Of Captain Is Acknowledged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has acknowledged an Army captain was killed fighting North Vietnamese guerrillas in Laos but denied the death was due to "ground combat operations."

Capt. Joseph Bush was shot to death Feb. 10, 1969, by North Vietnamese troops. He returned the fire of enemy troops during the engagement at a compound on the edge of the Plain of Jars, the White House said.

A White House official said 26 other Americans have been killed or reported missing due to hostile action in Laos.

But Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren maintained Sunday President Nixon stands by his statement that "no American stationed in Laos has ever been killed in ground combat operations."

Bush's death was "due to hostile actions," Warren said.

"He was not engaged in combat operations . . . he was a military attache," Warren expalined. "When the compound was attacked by commandos, he did take action, firing a gun, in an attempt to protect other persons in the compound and in taking this action he exposed himself to enemy fire and was killed."

The controversy over Bush developed after President Nixon said Friday in a formal statement that "No American stationed in Laos has ever been killed in ground combat operations."

The American's death was reported Sunday in a copyright story by freelance writer Don A. Schanche and distributed by the Los Angeles Times. Warren said Nixon was unaware of Bush's death at the time he issued his formal statement on U.S. involvement in Laos.

Schanche wrote that Bush was working with a Laotian army unit and a Thai artillery battalion that had been infiltrated in to support a counterattack on Communist forces occupying the Plain of Jars.

Another American Army captain whose presence was top secret was attached to the Thai unit, Schanche said, and 12 U.S. Air Force radar technicians and a U.S. AID supply specialist were in the compound when it was attacked.

North Vietnamese hit the compound on the western edge of the Plain of Jars about midnight, the writer added, spraying the area with rocket and automatic weapons fire.

Although Bush fired at the North Vietnamese commandos, the White House said, the death could not be attributed to ground combat operations because the compound was "about 10 miles to the rear of the expected line of combat."

Hostile action covers casualties in circumstances other than direct combat, including ambushes, long-range artillery fire and mines.

A White House authority last Friday said less than 400 Americans had been killed or reported missing in Laos as a result of air activity.

Coalition Regime Proposed

VIENTIANNE, Laos (AP) —The Pathet Lao put forward a peace program for Laos today calling for an end to U.S. intervention, withdrawal of the Royal Laotian government's forces from all areas "illegally occupied," resettlement of persons forcibly removed from their homes, and payment of compensation to them.

The proposal also called for a cease-fire, an all-party political conference to establish a provisional coalition government, and eventual election of a national assembly.

The Royal Laotian government announced it would exchange diplomatic messages with the Communist leadership on the proposal.

An aide to the Laotian premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, said the government had received a message from Prince Souphanouvong, Souvana Phouma's half-brother and the leader of the Pathet Lao. The message said Souvanna-Souphanouvong wanted to send a more detailed message which officials in Vientiane believe will outline the new peace proposal.

Souvanna sent a reply immediately to the Pathet Lao mission in Vientiane saying, "We will be glad to receive the message."

Souvanna's aide said he would have no immediate statement on the new proposal as outlined by the Pathet Lao in Hanoi.

"We are studying the statement very carefully," the aide said. "We may make some statement later."

The proposal included for the

A Population Program For California

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's popuiation will double within 30 years if something isn't done, says Senator Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

Beilenson today announced a seven-point program for muffling the population explosion in California, including legalized abortions, tax incentives for small families and a statewide birth control information program.

Beilenson said his proposals, to be introduced in the Senate today, are aimed at increasing "freedom of individual choice and conscience, and removing governmental interference with these very private matters relating to marriage, sex, reproduction and family life."

Beilenson said "the quality of life in this country will continue to deteriorate" unless population is "radically reduced."

High Court Refuses Appeal By Ginzburg

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider an appeal by publisher Ralph Ginzburg against a $75,000 libel judgment won against him by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

The Court had denied a hearing of Ginzburg's appeal Jan. 26 by a 6-2 vote.

Legal Power Weighed In Limiting Pickets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger suggested today the states have strong legal powers to keep pickets off private property.

Burger gave his views as the court, in a 6-2 decision, retained a ban against union picketing on a sidewalk near a drug store and supermarket in Mobile, Ala.

The chief justice, in a concurring opinion, took strong exception to any notion that the National Labor Relations Board was given primary jurisdiction over all activities of labor pickets by Congress.

"The protection of private property, whether a home, factory or store, through trespass laws is historically a concern of state laws," Burger wrote.

"Congress has never undertaken to alter this allocation of power . . ."

Burger was not physically present, being confined to a hospital with a viral infection.

The NLRB traditionally takes a tolerant view of union picketing. And the Supreme Court in recent years, has upheld the rights of pickets.

He and two associate justices, Byron R. White and Potter Stewart called meanwhile for reconsideration of a 1959 decision in which union pickets were given broad protection from damage judgments by state courts.

"I would hold," said White for the three, "that only labor activity determined actually, rather than arguably protected under federal law should be immune from state judicial control."

Four justices—one more than now in this camp—would have to agree to hear a case with this issue present before the court could change its position.

Justice John M. Harlan, who usually may be counted among the court conservatives, said in a memorandum that he would "stand by" the 1959 decision and foreclose state action without NLRB approval "even if wrongs may occasionally go partially or wholly unredressed."

The 6-2 ruling itself dismissed an appeal by a local of the Retail Clerks Union, AFL-CIO, as having been "inprovidently granted" by the court last October.

New Suspect Policy Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration asked Congress Monday for legislation to force suspects to submit to tests such as fingerprinting and blood specimens to determine if they should be charged with federal crimes.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, in letters to House Speaker John W. McCormack and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who presides over the Senate, said, such a law would provide "a useful new tool" for the apprehension of criminals.

It would pertain, Mitchell said, to persons for whom there are reasonable grounds to suspect of committing crimes even though "probable cause to arrest is lacking."

The legislation would greatly broaden the latitude given federal law enforcement authorities in handling criminal investigations.

Terra Linda Community Merger Eyed

Merger of the Terra Linda recreation-park and community services districts has been proposed by the board of directors of the recreation-park district.

Board chairman Cecelia Martz, in a letter to services district directors, said it was "somewhat illogical and unbusinesslike to continue to support two separate limited-purpose special districts to serve this small 1,000 home community."

Increasing operating costs, she noted, "have forced both districts to quietly sweep under the rug promises originally made to district taxpayers that the total costs to them of operating both districts would not exceed $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation, excluding bonded indebtedness.

The recreation-park district's current property tax rate is 51 cents, excluding debt, but 70 cents with debt payments. The service district's respective rates are 73 and 93 cents. Thus the total in the two districts,

U.S. Will Close Rhodesia Consulate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, refusing to recognize the new regime in Rhodesia, has instructed its consul in Salisbury to close the consulate on March 17, the State Department announced Monday.

The Rhodesian regime broke with the British crown on March 2. The new Rhodesian constitution transforming Rhodesia into a republic "constitutes the final and formal break with the United Kingdom," the State Department said.

Lockheed's Money Troubles Viewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today Lockheed Aircraft Corp.'s giant C5A cargo plane program will begin running up deficits the company cannot meet late this year.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard also said it will be impossible for Lockheed to finance three other weapons systems—Navy ships, the Short Range Attack Missile (SRAM) and the Cheyenne helicopter—if it has to await solution of company-Pentagon disputes over costs of the contracts.

Packard made no final recommendation to the House Armed Services Committee, but said the two major alternatives are either to supply a substantial amount of interim financing to Lockheed or to negotiate an over-all settlement with the company on the contracts.

Cambodian Border Is Still Fighting Scene

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and their supporting planes and helicopters battled North Vietnamese forces along the Cambodian border in the northern part of War Zone C today for the fourth straight day.

The U.S. Command said 43 North Vietnamese were killed in four clashes Sunday and today in Tay Ninh, Phuoc Long and Binh Long provinces. Six of the 1st Air Cavalry Division soldiers were killed and 29 wounded, while South Vietnamese militiamen in one of the battles reported very light casualties.

Three ground clashes Sunday were followed by a heavy North Vietnamese mortar attack early today on Fire Base Flasher, about three miles from the scene of the action Sunday in Tay Ninh province. U.S. spokesmen said 150 to 175 rounds were fired, but most of them landed outside the camp perimeter.

The shelling caused very light casualties, with no fatalities and no damage, headquarters said. But it reported counter fire from helicopter gunships and artillery killed 10 North Vietnamese.

The U.S. Command also announced that a hamlet just outside Saigon was hit by rockets accidentally fired from an American helicopter gunship Sunday evening, and three Vietnamese civilians were killed and 11 were wounded.

Johnson's Condition Is Improving

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Still confined to his special presidential suite, Lyndon B. Johnson began his second week in the hospital today. Doctors said they were "satisfied" with his progress.

The former president, 61, entered the Army's Brooke General Hospital a week ago with chest and arm pains arising from hardening of the coronary arteries. He then developed a cold.

They said his cold "continues to improve and has virtually disappeared."

The advisory added that Johnson awoke "after a good night's sleep feeling well and in excellent spirits."

Johnson's younger daughter, Luci Nugent, son-in-law Pat and grandson Lyn paid him a visit Sunday as he remained in his seventh-floor penthouse suite.

Chicago Seven Attorney Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas A. Foran, the government attorney who headed the Chicago 7 conspiracy trial, has submitted his resignation to the Justice Department, a department spokesman revealed Sunday.

Foran, the U.S. attorney for the northern district of Illinois, stipulated the resignation take effect when his successor is sworn in, the spokesman added.

No successor has yet been nemed.

Protestors Losing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam Brown, a major coordinator of the Vietnam Moratoriums held here last year, says street protest demonstrations are losing their effectiveness.

"It's very difficult these days for people to relate to other people being in the streets," Brown said on the Metromedia Radio News program "Profile."

"And certainly, at a national level, it's become much less effective, in my judgment, to have major demonstrations," he added.

Brown said protesters must go back to local communities.

"We have to find ways to relate to people in their own environment and that means you have to do a great deal of door-to-door neighborhood kind of work," he said.

City Area Secedes

LONDON (AP) — Part of London seceded Sunday night and declared itself independent in an attempt to get better schools, buses and welfare benefits.

Residents on the Isle of Dogs, a 618-acre peninsula around which the Thames makes a U-turn, elected their own president and two co-prime ministers.

"This is no joke," said 37-year-old President Ted Johns. "We are deadly serious."

The 11,000 islanders mutinied last week, complaining that their bus system, schools and general welfare were neglected by the Council of Tower Hamlets, the district in which the Isle of Dogs is located.

The rebel government demanded that part of the local taxes the islanders pay to Tower Hamlets be returned for improvements.

Strike Over

NEW YORK (AP) — An eight-week gravediggers' strike that left an estimated 15,000 bodies in coffins and vaults awaiting burial has tentatively been settled.

No details of the agreement were disclosed Sunday night after a 33-hour negotiating session signaled the strike's apparent end.

Local 365 of the Cemetery Workers and Greens Attendants Union, representing 1,700 gravediggers in the metropolitan area, has scheduled a ratification vote for its members tonight.

The union originally sought a $64 increase in weekly salary and benefits over a two-year contract, but later scaled down its demand. Bargainers for 44 cemeteries in the area initially had offered a $22 increase over three years, but later upped their bid.

Under the previous contract, union members earned an average of $126.50 for a 40-hour work week.

272 Hurt In Fall

MATSUYAMA, Japan (AP) — Two hundred seventy-two factory workers were injured today, police said, when a second-floor corridor collapsed while they were taking part in mass calisthenics. Six of the injured were serious condition.

Police said about 800 persons, most of them women, were taking part in the exercises on the concrete corridor linking two factory buildings. The concrete passageway crashed to the ground under the weight, police said.

Yosemite Plan

YOSEMITE (AP) — A long range plan to ban all automobiles from the floor of Yosemite Valley and move people in by mass transit is under development by the National Park Service.

The plan would move the present service community out of the valley along with auto camping facilities and place them in a new town to be created at Big Meadow five miles outside the west gate of the park.

This would be a permanent town of 1,600 people. From it a transit system would move visitors and Big Meadow campers into the scenic seven square-mile valley. The only alternative would be to hike.

The nature of the transit system has yet to be determined, but landscape architect Ronald Mortimore says planners are leaning to an automated system on tracks, something small enough for family use.

Chamber's View

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has declared its opposition to laws giving consumers the right to file joint damage suits.

In a statement issued Sunday, the Chamber said it "opposes the principle of consumer class actions as ineffective, excessive and unnecessary."

Several legislators have proposed laws empowering consumers to file joint actions.

The Nixon administration contends that such suits should be permitted in certain areas only after the Justice Department had concluded a case against a manufacturer or trade association.

Cable Car Line Is Shut Down

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Hyde Street cable car line was closed Sunday night to permit emergency repairs, leaving San Francisco with just one segment of its diminutive-car system in operation.

One of the six strands in the 1¼-inch-thick, 10,750 - foot-long Hyde cable was found defective.

Previously the Mason Street line also had been shut down for repairs. Still in operation was the California Street Line.

Guerrillas Continue Israeli Raids

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab guerrillas kept up their raids from Lebanon into Israel Sunday, despite Israeli warnings of retaliation.

Israeli troops reported killing five guerrilla infiltrators near the Israeli settlement of Zar'it, the site of some 20 sabotage incidents over the past several weeks.

The Lebanese-based guerrillas also blasted a water pipeline and planted land mines. One Israeli soldier was reported wounded when his vehicle hit a mine a mile from the Lebanese frontier.

In Amman, an Al Fatah commando spokesman said five guerrillas were killed when an Arab unit penetrated into the Upper Galilee area and fought with Israeli forces for an hour. The guerrillas destroyed a bridge and a troop carrier and planted land mines in the area, a commando spokesman said. He added the action took many Israeli lives.

The new guerrilla strikes followed an Israeli reprisal raid into the Lebanese village of Aita Ech Chaab Friday night. Israel reported killing one guerrilla, capturing two prisoners and blowing up five houses.

Israel has warned Lebanon that recent increasing guerrilla raids across the hilly, 50-mile border they share would lead to reprisal raids by Israeli troops.

Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban told a group of American rabbis in Jerusalem today that his country would be willing "at any time to sign a peace treaty with Lebanon according to the present borders between the two countries." But he said the "dictates of Arab solidarity" prevent Lebanon from making such a settlement.

Cypriot Leader Assassin Target

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Police said today they have arrested 11 young Greek Cypriots in their investigation of the attempt to assassinate President Makarios Sunday by shooting down his helcopter.

All of those arrested are supporters of former Interior Minister Polycarpos Georgadjis, Makarios' trusted strongman for eight years until the Greek military junta forced him out in 1968.

Police said three other persons were wanted.

Makarios' private helicopter was forced down by a hail of machine-gun and rifle fire as it lifted off its pad at Nicosia Palace for a trip to a mountain monastery 35 miles to the southwest.

Makarios, who also is Orthodox archbishop of Cyprus, was unhurt. The helicopter's only other occupant, pilot Zacharias Papadoyiannis, guided the craft to a safe landing despite three bullet wounds in his abdomen. His condition was described as very critical.

Police said a search of Georgadjis' home after the attempted assassination uncovered two unregistered revolvers and a small quantity of submachine-gun ammunition. Police did not say if they took the former interior minister into custody.

The attempt on the 57-year-old archbshop's life came just after dawn. Police said three gunmen —they found two rifles and a machine gun—fired at the helicopter from the roof of a high school across the street from the palace. The gunmen exchanged shots briefly with the palace guards but made their getaway after throwing a grenade which forced the guards to take cover.

Witnesses said the bearded archbishop jumped from the bullet-riddled helicopter, his ecclesiastical robes swirling around him in the downdraft of the craft's rotors, and asked bystanders to call an ambulance for the pilot.

When the ambulance didn't come, Makarios and others hailed a passing truck and helped load the pilot into it. Makarios accompanied the pilot to the hospital and stayed there until he was taken to the operating room.

The president then went on the monastery at Macheras and conducted the annual memorial service for Gregory Afxentiou, second in command of the Eoka underground that fought for the island's independence from Britain during 1955-59.

How Mardi Gras began is uncertain but the celebration as it is known today is believed to have started in the Nice area of France, now a part of Italy.

Bombs Reported Aboard Planes

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Munich police announced today they received a bogus threat Friday that a bomb was planted aboard an incoming El Al jet and a similar warning today aimed at Lufthansa.

The Friday threat, an anonymous phone call, was aimed at an El Al airliner arriving from Tel Aviv and bound for London, according to the police, who said passengers and baggage were thoroughly checked but that no explosives were found.

An anonymous caller phoned police today and said "the next bomb is aboard Lufthansa," without specifying which flight, police said. The call was traced to a telephone in southeast Munich, but police said the owner denied making any such threat.

Record Album By Manson Is Released

CHATSWORTH (AP) A record album of 13 songs by Charles Manson, the man accused of masterminding the murders of actress Sharon Tate and six others, is selling briskly, say members of Manson's hippie-style "family."

Entitled "The Love and Terror Cult," the album sells for $4.50 a copy through a mail-order house. Proceeds will go to a defense fund for Manson, 35, and five other defendants facing trial on murder and conspiracy charges.

Six members of the "family" talked to newsmen over the weekend at the Spahn movie ranch 25 miles north of Los Angeles, where Manson and his followers lived at the time of the seven murders last Aug. 9 and 10. Several still live there among the old movie locations.

The songs were recorded by Manson over a three-year period, said members of the group, and about 750 albums have been sold since it became available a week ago.

The group has received many private defense donations, including $200 from an anonymous benefactor who wrote "you are the scum of the sewers," a spokesman said.

Army Repells Indians; Jane Fonda Arrested

SEATTLE (AP) The Army has repelled a band of Indians who attempted to take over part of a fort, arresting actress Jane Fonda and about 85 other persons in the process.

After the day-long demonstration Sunday eight Indians said they had been beaten and clubbed by military police in a cell at the Ft. Lawton stockade here.

Miss Fonda and 13 other persons were seized by MPs at Ft. Lewis, about 35 miles south of here, after a larger group was unsuccessful in efforts to occupy a section of 1,100-acre Ft. Lawton, part of which is scheduled to be made surplus by the Army and may become a park.

The Indians, numbering approximately 160, were met by the 392nd Military Police Co. on their second attempt to enter Ft. Lawton. The group, which called itself the "United American Indian Ft. Lawton Occupational Force," climbed over fences, and scaled a high bluff and set up a teepee.

The Indians, some carrying sleeping bags and food ,read a proclamation demanding that an "Indian university," and cultural center be developed on the fort.

Addressed to "the great white father and all his people," the proclamation said: "In the name of all Indians, we reclaim this land for all Indian tribes."

Col. Stuart Palos, Ft. Lawton commander, said Miss Fonda's lawyer was given a "letter of expulsion" banning her from the post after she took part in the demonstration.

About 72 persons, including women and children, were held briefly at the post stockade for illegal entry. At the main gate, other members of the group sang and beat drums while the 72 were questioned and released.

Palos said Miss Fonda was "found with about 14 others in an Army tactical area" at Ft. Lewis after she was ejected from Ft. Lawton.

"She was taken into custody because she was in violation of the expulsion letter," he explained. "Ft. Lawton is a satellite base of Ft. Lewis."

Miss Fonda and the others taken into custody at Ft. Lewis were held briefly. After her release she visited the Tacoma Shelter House, a coffee house for soldiers.

School Area Boundaries On Agenda

Boundary changes between Sausalito and Mill Valley School districts will be discussed by representatives of both districts at 7:30 p.m. today in Park School in Mill Valley.

Trustee representatives of Sausalito will attend the Mill Valley board meeting to see if the two districts can reach agreement on the Marinview housing development, which the Sausalito district would like to annex in its entirety.

The Mill Valley board will also hear a report from Architects Wong and Brocchini and Associates of San Francisco on the 1,200 student middle school. Bids received last month were higher than anticipated because of 25 alternate bids. The low bid of $3.4 million by Branagh Inc. of Oakland is approximately $800 higher than the estimate.

Other items to come before the board include increasing the district's tax rate on its bonds, a traffic study on Marin View and holding a closed meeting on the expulsion of a student.

Researchers at the University of Colorado School of Medicine are using a detergent injected into the blood stream to treat frostbite.

Plane Contest For Youngsters

Indian Guides of the Young Men's Christian Association will have a model plane contest at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Davidson Junior High School, San Rafael.

The competition, sponsored by the Panther Nation, is expected to attract boys from 6 to 9 years of age throughout Marin.

Judging will be on the basis of longest flight distance, accuracy, height, longest time, originality, best art work and colors.

Better Business Unit Seats Marinites

Two Marinites have been named to the board of directors of the Better Business Bureau in San Francisco.

INSIDE THE LETTER WORKS

Bub Broomhead finds no mail as he peers into his new mailbox at Ross Post Office, but the camera shows the working parts of new key-operated locks which have replaced combination locks on Ross postal boxes. In a $15,000 remodeling project, 250 boxes were added and the office was rearranged to provide more space. Keys are replacing combinations to eliminate tampering with boxes, according to Postmaster John I. Malarin. (Independent-Journal photo by Alfred M. Arn)

Hanoi Power Assessed After 18-Day Visit

and about forces Hanoi has sent south were turned aside uninformatively. The question was not open for discussion.

Western estimates put the total North Vietnamese army strength at about 450,000. Estimates of the number committed to the battle in the South range from 85,000 to more than double that.

Always with my escorts, I saw little heavy military hardware. A government official explained why.

"Frankly, there are things we did not want you to see. Surface to air missiles, for example.

I asked about a 28-year-old interceptor pilot credited with destroying nine U.S. planes. The official paused over his cup of strong, black Vietnamese coffee. Again, his response reflected national pride:

"Young Captain Nguyen Van Coc is a farmer's son, of simple background. Yet he learned to fly a MIG17. It isnt' as fast as more modern American planes, but the captain learned to make tighter turns, to change weakness into strength, to gain the superior position for firing his air-to-air missiles. It was a matter of great courage. After four years, he is still flying."

A million North Vietnamese have seen the People's Army exhibition at Hanoi. It is devoted to the successful 1946-54 war to drive out the French, and to the struggle since 1964 with the United States.

For this event, which opened last December, the army gathered an imposing array of modern weaponry and lined the hardware up at the far side of an open square, facing four pavillions. The armament extended for hundreds of yards.

A MIG21 and two MIG22s were parked in a row at the exhibition entrance gate. The lineup continued with artillery of various dimensions up to 155 millimeter. Then rockets of large sizes. Surface-to-air and air-to-air missiles. A heavy tank and several of medium weight. Amphibious and tracked personnel carriers. Huge radar screens .Helicopters. An assault boat. Special trucks of almost every descriptions.

Vietnamese soldiers, many of them women, have been trained to operate all imported weapons systems, I was told. Most bear the mark of manufacture in the Soviet Union.

Soviet technicians in business suits are frequent guests at hotels run by Vietnamtourism, a state company. But I saw no guest who looked like a military or civilian representative of Red China. The Chinese maintain their own guest quarters.

Last February 22, on the 52nd anniversary of the Soviet armed forces, Soviet diplomats gave a reception in Hanoi. All foreign missions attended except the Red Chinese.

Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap came to the Soviet Embassy for the festivities.

At the exhibition devoted to the North Vietnamese army, I saw battle-action photos of the 1968 Tet offensive, captioned Khe Sanh Height 662, Hue and Da Nang. The offensive itself was called the General Uprising. Two photos showed riflemen moving up in a long single file, through a pine forest and a rubber plantation, before an attack.

I asked my official interpreter if these soldiers were North Vietnamese fighting in the South. "Guerrillas," he replied.

As we traveled through the country, we saw hundreds of cemeteries on high ground under the shade of trees. Fresh flowers were on the graves, and large red signs, hung over cemetery gates, proclaimed, "For the Glory of the Fatherland," "The Fatherland is Grateful," "The Fatherland Remembers All Who Served."

I asked the interpreter if the signs of homage were for soldiers who had died on the front in South Vietnam.

"Many people died heroic deaths in the air war of destruction in North Vietnam," he said. "The signs are for them."

Concerning American prisoners of war now being held in the North, government officials said they are holding 320 and may release all the names soon.

The number acknowledged by Hanoi is about 100 less than official American government estimates of those "known or believed" captured in the North.

All are believed to be airmen shot down in the air war over the North.

North Vietnamese officials said several methods for releasing the names were under consideration, including giving postal records to a news correspondent from a friendly power. They said such records would cover every man held because all had exchanged mail with their families.

Younger To Talk

Los Angeles Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger, candidate for the Republican nomination as California attorney general, will address the Marin County Peace Officers Association and Corte Madera Lions Club at 8 p.m. on Thursday in Corte Madera Recreation Hall.

Waterfront Bond Issue To Be Studied

A proposed $570,000 bond issue to finance acquisition of six choice waterfront lots by the City of Sausalito and a plan to renovate a portion of Bridgeway will be discussed at a special meeting of the Sausalito City Council tomorrow at 8 p.m. in city hall.

According to City Mgr. George M. Patterson, the lots, totaling 10 acres and located east of Bridgeway, between Litho and Napa streets, would be used as a site for a new city hall and library. Patterson said the city would also consider developing a small yacht harbor on the property, owned by Sausalito Properties, most of which is underwater.

In a letter to Sausalito Civic Organizations urging their representatives to attend the special meeting, Patterson said the property offer "will probably be the last opportunity the citizens have to preserve, for the use of the people of Sausalito, part of the city's waterfront property."

Patterson said the planned Bridgeway renovation would include elimination of on-street parking on the street between Princess and Anchor streets. Widening of the sidewalks and new plans for merchants' rubbish disposal and sidewalk cleaning and maintenance are included in the proposal, Patterson said.

Ski Lodge Robbed; A $250,000 Haul

DODGE RIDGE (UPI)—An armed gang of masked bandits equipped with a walkie-talkie robbed the Dodge Ridge ski resort early today after tying up four employes and slashing telephone lines. Their haul ranged from an estimated $100,000 to $250,000.

Sheriff's Lt. Orv Childess said he was convinced the holdup in the heart of the Sierra gold country was performed by "professionals." He said officers believed the robbers were still holed up in the Mother Lode mining region.

Mrs. Martz's letter was dated Feb. 20, but a mixup in having it distributed was discovered only last Thursday, she said. The February letter came after the board raised the issue at its Feb. 12 meeting. The proposal is to be discussed again when they meet at 8 p.m. on Thursday in the community center, 670 Del Ganado Road.

A joint meeting of the two boards of directors will be scheduled, perhaps next week, Mrs. Martz said today. Asst. County Administrator John Barrows is preparing a report spelling out the probable effects on costs and taxes of a merger, she said.

Barrows said the report would not be ready until next week.

Mrs. Martz's letter also noted that with development begun at Munson Park the district "has substantially fulfilled the purpose for which it was established as an independent political entity.

"Experience of the past 10 years has also indicated decreasing public interest in our functions; i.e., poor attendance at meetings and no or few candidates opposing incumbents or replacing departed board members," she wrote.

The services district provides fire and recreation services, and limited police services.

LAOS

first time a standstill cease-fire and it was described by a U.S. diplomatic source today as a "very interesting" plan.

"We're all for the Laos settling problems among themselves," the source said.

The statement outlining the proposals was made in Hanoi by Phau Phimphachan, a member of the Pathet Lao Central Committee and director of its information bureau.

As received here, the proposal called for:

1. A standfast cease-fire.

2. A "consultative political conference composed of representatives of all Lao political parties" and establishment of a provisional coalition government. Such a coalition government was established after the Geneva conference in 1962, but the Pathet Lao has boycotted it for years.

3. A demilitarized zone where the political conference and the coalition government would function.

4. A pledge by each party to refrain from reprisals against those who have collaborated with another party.

Radio Hanoi, in an English-language broadcast heard in Hong Kong, gave a somewhat different version of the proposals, including a demand for a halt to all U.S. "intervention and aggression" in Laos.

This outline of the proposal said after the all-party consultative political elections should be held to choose a national assembly and establish a "democratic government of national union."

"Pending this unification," it continued, "no party shall use force to encroach upon or nibble at the areas controlled by another. The pro-American forces must withdraw forthwith from the areas they have illegally occupied and resettle in their native places those people who have been forcibly removed from there.

"At the same time, they must pay compensation for damages caused to them. Each party pledges itself to refrain from discrimination and reprisal against those who have collaborated with another party."

Building Sites Due Discussion

Plans for specific building sites in Bahia Unit 1 B will be considered by the Novato Planning Commission when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Bahia Del Norte Corp. has submitted the plans for the sites on 900 acres at the end of Bugeia Lane.

Crown Development Co. has submitted the tentative map of Rancho Village Unit 10, West of South Novato Boulevard for 37 lots on 12.5 acres.

OBITUARIES

H. Stanley Carroll Dies At 73

A Requiem Mass for H. Stanley Carroll, 73, of 338 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, teacher, lecturer and researcher, will be celebrated at 11 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael.

Carroll, retired professor of chemistry and biology at Dominican College of San Rafael, died Friday at a local hospital after a long illness.

Carroll served on the staff of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Japan as chief of chemical industries, advised the Korean government in agricultural chemistry, 1952-57, and worked on crop problems in the Philippines from 1957 to 1959.

He served at Dominican College for 24 years, in two stretches, from 1931 to 1946, when he left to join MacArthur's staff, and from 1961 until he retired last year.

During World War II, while at Dominican, he researched the chemistry of uranium for the Manhattan Project, which produced the atomic bomb.

After completing his work in the Far East, he taught for one year at the University of Wisconsin before returning to Dominican College. He was a native of Wisconsin.

Carroll earned his bachelor and master of science degrees from Notre Dame University and his doctorate of philosophy from Kansas State College.

While in Japan his principal job was to encourage peacetime use of chemistry and he engaged in experiments with seaweed.

Carroll was a member of the American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Society of American Military Engineers and the American Institute of Chemists, and the Knights of Columbus, 1292.

In 1967 he participated in the National Science Foundation summer institute in radiobiology, and lectured in connection with National Science Foundation institutes.

Surviving are four sons, John S. of Honolulu, William J. and Patrick E. of Mill Valley, and Thomas Carroll of San Rafael, a daughter, Mary McDonald of San Anselmo, and 12 grandchildren.

Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

tion in 1967 when his Therapeutic Abortion Act became state law, greatly liberalizing California abortion law.

But his own bill is now among his targets.

Beilenson's proposals include repeal of the Therapeutic Abortion Act, taking the entire matter of abortion out of the hands of the state and making abortions legal as long as they are performed by doctors.

of the stat aed making abortions legal as long as they are performed by doctors.

Other proposals include tax incentives for families with fewer than three children, easing restrictions on voluntary sterilization, making birth control information and devices available to minors, and creation of a population study unit as part of the State Department of Public Health.

"We can eventually stabilize population growth only if families limit themselves to an average of two children, Beilenson said, "but present tax policy encourages and rewards unlimited childbearing."

Panel Calls For New Foreign Aid Approach

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, praising the findings of a presidential task force, says he will propose legislation next January to carry out a "new U.S. approach to foreign assistance for the 1970s."

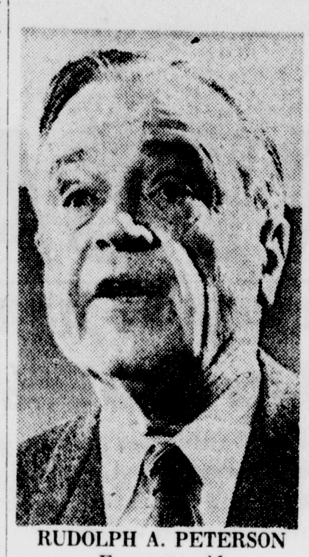
As the White House disclosed the 49-page report of the presidential task force Sunday calling for more international cooperation, Nixon said the recommendations were "fresh and exciting."

The President, in a statement issued shortly before he returned to Washington from a three-day stay at Key Biscayne, Fla., reported the new overseas aid approach he will offer Congress will be among his major foreign-policy projects for the future.

The 16-member panel—headby Rudolph A. Peterson, former president of the Bank of America—recommended a basic revision of the U.S. foreign aid program and an increase in money for economic development abroad.

Nixon agreed with the Peterson panel's conclusion that the United States has a profound interest in cooperating with developing nations in efforts to improve their conditions of life.

The task force listed no specific dollar amount but said the downward dip of U.S. assistance



RUDOLPH A. PETERSON

for development abroad should be reversed.

Economic development aid should be split from projects for military and security-connected economic assistance, the panel said.

"Confusing them in concept and connecting them in administration," it added, "detracts from the effectiveness of both."

The panel also suggested there should be more economic aid applied through international institutions and emphasis on self-help and use of private enterprise.

The panel recommended that new agencies take over functions now performed by the Agency for International Development—which was created under the Kennedy administration to run the economic aid program.

A new "institutional framework" suggested by the panel would include:

—A U.S. International Development Bank, that would be an independent government corporation starting with $2 billion in federal funds with power to borrow $2 billion more from the public.

—A U.S. International Development Institute to seek new ways for science and technology to assist developing nations.

—An Overseas Private Investment Corporation to use U.S. private enterprise in behalf of international development. This agency was created in annual aid legislation passed by Congress for this year.

—A U.S. International Development Council to assure development needs abroad get greater weight in U.S. policy-making.

Total U.S. foreign aid in fiscal 1969 was figured by the panel at $6.5 billion—including $3.4 billion related to security. U.S economic developent aid was listed at $2.7 billion, of which $600 million went to international institutions such as the World Bank.

Meanwhile, the White House has disclosed a private paper from Edward M. Korry, ambassador to Chile, to Secretary of State William P. Rogers asserting that current aid programs often are misguided and self-defeating.

Many of Korry's recommendations coincided with the Peterson report. Korry suggested economic development should be a shared responsibility between the United States and the developing nation.

Vaudeville Star Fatally Injured

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wally Vernon, one of the last of the old-time "born-in-a-trunk" troupers, has been fatally injured by an automobile at age 64.

He was born into a theatrical family in 1905. Both parents were well-known actors. He had his first stage role at age 3.

By his teens, Vernon was on the vaudeville circuit, playing theaters from Chicago to Mississippi, a master of 200 comedy routines, songs and dances.

He went from vaudeville into stock companies, then into movies in 1939. He played in a score of films, often cast as a funny drunk or other comic character.

One of his last roles was in "What a Way to Go" in 1963.

Vernon, and his wife Mary, 61, were struck down by a hit-and-run driver Saturday. Vernon died in an ambulance. His wife was hospitalized in serious condition.

Lecture Will Feature Russia

An illustrated lecture, "Russia Today—Madrid to Moscow", by Grant C. Butler, will be given at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin, sponsored by the college's community services department.

Butler, director of the speakers bureau for Pan American Airways, traveled to Moscow with Col. Frank Borman and his family. He has flown more than two million miles to 63 countries. He recently returned from a two month's tour of Scandinavia and Iron Curtain countries.

He interviewed top ranking diplomats and spoke with youth leaders in Moscow, Kiev, Sochi and Leningrad while in the Soviet Union.

God has a good purpose for you.

Injuries Are Minor In Collision

One person was hospitalized and two others were to see their own doctors for injuries in a three-car accident at 10:33 a.m. Saturday on Highway 101 at Grant Avenue, Novato, police reported.

Ruby Jean Ammons, 27, of South San Francisco, was released yesterday from Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with no apparent injury.

Robert C. Niccolls 36, of Santa Rosa was to see his own doctor for possible whiplash and Norman H. Gunn, 40, of 14 Alma Court, Petaluma, was to see his own doctor for a cut lip and bump on the head, police reported.

According to police, Ammons, southbound in a pickup truck hit the stopped Niccolls car, knocking it into a stopped car of Ralph W. Gousha Jr., 38, of 22 Estado Court, Novato. Gunn was a passenger in the Niccolls car.

Repeal Of Teacher Tenure Laws Urged

I-J Special Report

SAN JOSE — Repeal of California teacher tenure laws is advocated in a resolution adopted here Saturday by the Association of California School Districts.

The resolution adopted at the organization's convention declares tenure laws "have been overly protective of the rights of teachers without sufficient regard for the right of students to be instructed by the best teachers available" and have prevented school boards from dismissiong "incompetent, ineffectual and disruptive teachers."

The association, formerly the California Small School Districts Association, also adopted resolutions opposing forced interdistrict busing for integration puproses, calling for repeal of the requirement that a certain percentage of school budgets be devoted to teacher salaries, asking removal of school trustees from the financial disclosure law, and asking the state to appropriate funds for pilot programs in merit pay for teachers.

These resolutions were all by unanimous action of the executive committee, according to James C. Voss Jr. of Santa Rosa, association president.

The role of some faculty members in campus unrest at state colleges was described by John W. Gilbaugh of San Jose State College, keynote speaker.

Bryce W. Anderson, executive city editor of the Independent-Journal and author of "The People's Schools," spoke on "Teacher Tenure and the Step-Scale Salary Trap" at the Saturday dinner meeting. Nan Hepp of Mill Valley participated in a panel discussion of "Education by Intimidation." Winifred C. Frederick of Lagunitas was program chairman.

Generator Stolen

A gasoline generator worth $500 was stolen between 5 p.m. Thursday and 7:30 a.m. Friday from a house under construction at 41 San Mateo Court, San Rafael, police said today.

Preliminary Budget Is Decreased

A preliminary budget of $176,000 for fiscal 1970-71 will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the Bolinas-Stinson School District board at the Bolinas school.

The budget is $29,485 less than the current one of $205,485, according to Board President Edward Z.Lewis.

"We are taking a reverse procedure this year with the budget by starting with the bare minimum and seeing what we can afford to add to it," Lewis said.

Supt. Clarence B. Larison, who has resigned effective June 30, has recommended that his successor do some teaching, eliminating one teaching position. He has also recommended cutting one custodian and supplies, Lewis said.

The current tax rate is $2.325 per $100 assessed valuation, which brings in approximately $196,000 Lewis said. The district has operated this year by using reserve funds, he said.

The board will also hear a report on possible consolidation of the district's two schools on making up two school days lost because of recent floods and renewal of teacher contracts.

Balloon Seller Dies Of Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Clarice Grey, who was known most recently for her court battle to retain the right to sell balloons along Fisherman's Wharf, died Sunday of cancer in a city hospital. She was 58.

A native of Portland, Ore., Mrs. Grey ran afoul of the law when she started selling balloons and an occasional newspaper along the Wharf in the late '60s. Opposed by the Wharf's merchant association, the police department, and the City Board of Permit Appeals, Mrs. Grey was twice arrested and taken to court for not having a peddler's license. She went to jail.

Mrs. Grey was finally exonerated by Municipal Judge Albert Axelrod, who ruled last July that the ordinance under which the doughty lady had been jailed was unconstitutional. Mrs. Grey returned to the Wharf and her balloons, but only two months later learned she had cancer and had just a few months to live.

Tire Explodes; Arm, Leg Lost

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —An airline mechanic lost his left leg and right arm Sunday night when an airplane tire he was filling exploded.

A spokesman for TWA said Mamerto D. Licerio, 26, San Francisco was listed in critical condition at a hospital on the San Francisco peninsula.

Licerio was filling the tire with nitrogen, a standard procedure, the airline spokesman said, when it suddenly burst.

Two foremen witnessed the accident and gave Licerio first aid until an ambulance arrived.

Span-Owned Ferry Due Resolutions

A resolution asking the Golden Gate Bridge District to buy its own ferry for Tiburon-San Francisco service will be considered tomorrow morning by both Marin County Supervisors and Marin Transit District directors.

The transit district meeting is set for 8:30 a.m. in the board of supervisors chambers, followed by the regular meeting of the supervisors at 9:15 a.m.

The supervisors face a heavy agenda, which includes an agreement to purchase McNear's Beach for a county park, a recommendation that Thomas J. Barfield be removed from the Bolinas Lagoon Citizens Advisory Committee and a request by a newspaper union official to discuss the union position in the current strike at the San Rafael Independent-Journal. Among afternoon items on the agenda are organizational changes recommended in the county department of public works, a draft of a June 2 ballot measure asking voters to approve 600 more units of low-rent housing in the county and a request by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce for a status report on the county's balanced transportation study.

Subcommittee To Report To School Board

A report from the salary and staffing subcommittee of a citizens advisory committee will be heard by the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the school district office, Third and E streets.

Ronald Shafer, chairman of the subcommittee, will present the report.

The board will also consider a proposal to grant the San Rafael Volunteers in Education recognition to coordinate the use of volunteer assistants in the schools, and will discuss plans for summer school and adult education courses for the spring term.

The board will meet in closed session to discuss personnel changes.

Tiburon Fire Captain Quits

Capt. Edward J. Parnell has resigned from the Tiburon Fire Department for personal reasons, effective tomorrow, Chief Franklin J. Buscher has announced.

Parnell first joined the department as a volunteer in 1958, later becoming first assistant chief and organizing volunteer personnel for Station 2 on Trestle Glen Boulevard. He became captain with the paid force in August 1965 and has supervised the department's training program since.

Parnell's departure leaves the department with only two officers, the chief and a lieutenant. His duties will be assumed temporarily by shift supervisors, Buscher said.

Eight Suspects Arrested In Big Marijuana Sweep

Narcotics agents made a four-stop sweep in Marin Saturday netting six seabags full of marijuana and eight suspects.

Arrested in the roundup were:

Richard D. Smith, 25, of 314 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, suspicion of sale of marijuana and possession of marijuana, bail at $3,750.

Lynn Gray, 28, of 19 Merrydale Avenue, near San Rafael, suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale and sale of marijuana, bail at $5,000.

William N. Kirsch, 37, of 251 Gate Five, Waldo Point, suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale, $5,000.

Phyllis Ellen Farrel, 23, of 251 Gate Five, Waldo Point, suspicion of possession of marijuana for sale, $5,000.

Don Earle Gray, 29, of 19 Merrydale Avenue, possession of marijuana, $3,750.

Donna Marie Arsenault, 28, of 276 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, suspicion of possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana for sale, $3,750.

Marie Agnes Dellowe, 27, of 314 Kent Avenue, suspicion of possession of marijuana, $2,500.

Richard Nickerson, 27, of all points, suspicion of possession of marijuana, $2,500.

The eight posted bail and were scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

The series of arrests started in the parking lot in front of Zack's restaurant, Bridgeway and Turney Street at 1:05 a.m., according to Inspector Dennis Sawdon of the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau.

Acting on information that possibly sale of marijuana was involved, agents spotted Lynn Gray and Smith in a truck in the lot, Sawdon said.

Agents discovered three canvas seabags containing 63 wrapped bricks of marijuana, weighing about 100 pounds.

They learned that the marijuana had come from 251 Gate Five, Waldo Point, Sawdon reported.

Agents then went to the Gate Five address, where they reportedly discovered, another three seabags and a plastic bag of marijuana, weighting a total of about 50 pounds.

Kirsch and Miss Farrell, at the Walto Point location, were arrested at 1:45 a.m. There also was about a pound -and-a-half of loose marijuana and what appeared to be 15 cigarettes there, Sawdon reported.

Then officers went to 276 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, where they discovered Don Gray, Lynn's brother, and Miss Arsenault.

There was a large platter of what appeared to be marijuana, two kilos of marijuana and a white powder, which ws suspected of being cocaine at the Larkspur address, Sawdon said.

Officers also stopped at Smith's address in Kentfield where there was marijuana and hashish in a brown paper bag on a closet shelf in the bedroom, where Miss Dellowe was sleeping.

Nickerson, and Miss Dellowe, were arrested at the Kentfield address. Sawdon said that Nickerson had a small box of powder suspected of being heroin.

One Arrested, Two Cited In Wild Chase

A 19-year-old San Francisco youth was booked on suspicion of car theft and reckless driving Saturday after a wild chase south of Point Reyes.

Deputies said Peter Alphonse LaRocca, of 2237 Mason Street, failed to heed a red light and siren, passed cars on the right, forced cars off the roadway and was stopped seven miles south of Point Reyes.

The chase came after Constable Michael McLean had stopped three youths in what was believed to be a stolen car a mile south of Point Reyes on Shoreline Highway at 11:40 a.m.

McClean took into custody the driver, a 17-year-old San Francisco youth, and the two passengers, one of them LaRocca, fled.

They reportedly took a car in Olema and were then sighted by a deputy who gave chase.

La Rocca and a 16-year-old San Francisco youth, passengers in the car driven by the 17-year-old told deputies they had stopped that car by pulling the ignition key and applying the brakes because the 17-year-old was driving erratically. They said they had been picked up by him in the North Beach area of San Francisco.

LaRocca was placed in Marin County jail in lieu of $1,200 bail, and the 16-year-old and 17-year-old were cited to juvenile authorities.

The owners of the stolen cars weren't identified in the report.

Demonstration Draws Small Crowd

What had been billed as a giant demonstration in San Rafael, organized by Students for a Democratic Society in support of San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the Independent-Journal—drew about 125 to 175 young persons.

More than 100 police officers, with about 400 more on standby, were on hand, equipped with riot helmets and nightsticks, in an attempt to prevent a repeat of the Santa Barbara and Berkeley riots in which rampaging students and street people wrecked shops and businesses.

But the crowd never grew large or unruly enough to require officers to leave their posts at key street intersections and at Courthouse Square.

Leaflets announcing the demonstration had been passed out at Sonoma State College, San Francisco State College, the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco City College and the College of Marin. Police were braced for 5,000 students, the number the SDS had pledged itself to recruit for the rally.

As 11 a.m., announced time of the rally, came and went, merchants on Fourth Street stood quietly in front of their stores talking. Young boys rode bicycles along streets blocked off by police.

The rally began at 12:10 p.m. and lasted until 12:30. The crowd, mostly young people, applauded politely as speakers from San Francisco State, Berkeley and the College of Marin urged them to take the message back to their schools to gain support for the next rally.

But the speakers didn't say when the next rally would be. "We'll be announcing it at the schools," one said.

The last person to address the colorfully clothed gathering identified himself as an ex-newspaper carrier for the I-J. He said he had been fired soon after the strike began on Jan. 7 "for working for the union."

The youth, who didn't give his name, said the newspaper owed him $8.50 for three months and when he deducted the amount from his payments he was fired.

Cheers of "Right on!" greeted his remark that he had asked his customers to cancel their subscriptions until the strike was settled. "About half of them did," he told the crowd.

The rally broke up with chants of "Scabs must go" and "Power to the people." The demonstrators began leaving immediately and most were gone by 1 p.m.

A few placards reading "We Like ITU (International Typographical Union)" and "Bosses No, Workers Yes" littered the Courthouse Square lawn.

Capt. Thomas L. Stephenson of the San Rafael police department said he didn't know whether the rally fizzled or whether persons planning to come changed their minds when they saw the large number of officers.

The only excitement of the day was the arrival in a city parking lot at Fifth and A streets of the lunch truck, which was immediately besieged by hungry policemen.

This was the area in which many squads waited and where bookings and emergency medical treatment would have taken place. A bus borrowed from the Department of Corrections waited to take arrested persons to the county jail if necessary.

Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, county medical director, had a first aid station set up in a station wagon.

Police Lt. Jay H. Fletcher said San Rafael's entire police force was mobilized, backed up by police contingents from every city in Marin and from Petaluma and Santa Rosa. Also on hand were men from the Marin sheriff's office and San Quentin prison.

Groups of police officers waited at the San Rafael police station and other places but weren't needed.

San Rafael Idea Is Springboard To State Vietnam Prisoner Drive

A campaign to focus public attention on the treatment of American prisoners of war and servicemen missing in action in Vietnam has been launched by the California Junior Chamber of Commerce at the suggestion of the San Rafael Jaycees.

Robert C. Callahan, of 26 Villa Avenue, San Rafael, state chairman of the POW-MIA Action Committee, said the San Rafael group got interested in the project, based on a similar one in Virginia Beach, Va., because of Julie Butler of Glenwood.

Mrs Butler is the wife of Air Force Capt. William Butler, whose plane was shot down near Hanoi Nov. 20, 1967, and from whom she has not heard since. She learned last August that he was alive and in a North Vietnam prison camp—he had been seen by an American prisoner who was released by the North Vietnamese.

Mrs. Butler, along with other wives and families of missing men, for some time has been asking friends to write letters to arouse public opinion to force Hanoi to treat prisoners humanely.

When she heard of the Virginia Jaycee program, she enlisted Callahan's support for such an effort in Marin and California.

Last month at their state convention, the California Jaycees approved a proposal from the San Rafael delegation that they take on the responsibility for a California POW-MIA project.

Callahan, and Jamie Betts, of 1331 Las Rasposas Road, Terra Linda, Marin chairman of the project, explained that the Jaycees are hoping to put enough pressure on Hanoi to arouse public opinion sufficiently to force opinion-conscious Hanoi to heed the Geneva Conventions on treatment of prisoners of war.

Callahan said they are asking Hanoi for the following: immediate release of a list of prisoners; immediate inspection of all POW facilities by an impartial body; free flow of communications between the POW's and their families; repatriation of sick and wounded prisoners, and the eventual release of all prisoners.

He said the Jaycees are not trying to end the war, that it is a "nonpolitical, humanitarian project."

Using the theme "The World Is Watching," he said the Jaycees, through slide presentations, mailings, newspaper ads, bumper stickers, billboards, radio and television announcements, will be urging people to write to government officials around the world asking them to pressure Hanoi. We're trying to let the people in this country know what's going on," Callahan said.

He said that if Hanoi were heeding the Geneva Conventions more than 18,000 letters should have come from prisoners last year. Instead, he said, 600 letters were released by North Vietnamese officials.

The Geneva conventions authorize a country to limit correspondence to prisoners of war to two letters and four cards monthly. Correspondence to prisoners may in no circumstances be restricted, according to the conventions.

An estimated 1,450 Americans are missing in action or known to be prisoners of war.

"Hanoi works on world pressure," Callahan said, "and they cannot afford worldwide condemnation."

Plastic Pipe Uses On Agenda

The use of plastic pipe for drains and ventilating systems will be considered by the Novato City Council at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House.

The use of plastic pipes in new construction has come before the Novato Council twice before. Each time it was proposed by the builders and opposed by the plumbers. The council previously would not approve the plastic pipe pending improvement.

The council will hold a hearing on establishing an underground utility district on Grant Avenue from Highway 101 to Seventh Street. Portions of this part of the business district already have underground utilities.

Other items to come before the council include the use of motor bikes adjacent to private homes, the completion of the signalization of Highway 101 and Lamont Avenue, the offer of the Grace Lutheran Church parsonage for a teen-center and the abatement of two billboards.

America's first paper mill was erected in Philadelphia in 1690 by William Rittenhouse.

Black Artists Set Exhibit

Black artists from around the state will open an exhibit at a reception on March 13 at 6 p.m. in the art gallery of the Fine Arts theater at the College of Marin.

Jeff Donaldson, associate professor of art at Northwestern University, will talk on "African-Afro-American Art and Its Influence on European Art."

The exhibit will last through April 10.

Accountant Is Found Dead

Christan (Harry) Ketjen, 69, a San Rafael accountant, was found dead in his car outside his office at 1418 Lincoln Avenue last night.

The Marin County coroner's office attributed death to apparent natural causes and said Ketjen had a history of heart illness. An autopsy was ordered.

Ketjen was found at 9:30 p.m. by a passing policeman. He was behind the wheel of his car and the car's engine was running, the coroner's office reported.

Ketjen, who lived at 570 Virginia Drive, Tiburon, was born in The Netherlands. He had lived 40 years in California and 20 in Marin, and had been a self-employed public accountant for 30 years. He was a member of the Society of California Accountants.

Funeral is pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Refrigerated vests are being developed in Japan to help welders and shipbuilders bear the long, hot Japanese summer. The vests have pockets for dry ice, which evaporates to produce a cooling effect.

Commuters Set Session On Toll Hike

The Golden Gate Commuters Association, a citizen's group opposed to higher commuter tolls on the Golden Gate Bridge to pay for transit, will meet at 8 p.m. on Wednesday in the supervisors chambers at the Civic Center.

David M. Soblin of Mill Valley, information officer for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, will discuss the prospects of expanding BART to the North Bay, and discuss the Golden Gate Bridge District's rejection in 1962 of BART's proposal to use the bridge for trains.

Also slated is adoption of a policy urging the bridge district to put its transit plans to a popular vote, and favoring a cut in the price of 25-round-trip commute books from the current $10 to $5.

Another Window Is Broken Out

A window of undetermined value was smashed yesterday morning at the Bourbon Shop, 36 Medway Road, San Rafael, in vandalism apparently connected with San Francisco Typographical Union 21's strike against the Independent-Journal.

Steven Curtin, a salesman at the store, reported to San Rafael police that a man entered the shop Saturday at 2:15 p.m. and told him that "a lot of windows are being broken at businesses still dealing with the I-J. Don't be surprised if yours also are broken."

Curtin said he told the man that the newspaper racks in front of the store are owned by someone else and that the store had no connection with the I-J. The man then left.

The window was found broken by a rock at 12:43 a.m. yesterday, according to police.

Balkan Dance Class Offered

Classes in Balkan folk dancing, taught by Claire Tilden of San Rafael and sponsored by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, are being offered every Thursday and Friday night.

Classes are held at Davidson Junior High School, 280 Woodland Avenue, except for three dates this month. Classes Friday, March 26 and March 27 will be at the community recreation center, Second and Brooks Streets. Classes start at 8 p.m. Thursdays and 8:30 p.m. Fridays.

Most of the dances do not require a partner, and visiting dancers are always welcome, according to Mrs. Tilden.

Motor Is Stolen

R. Howard Annin of 144 St. Thomas way, Paradise Cay, Tiburon Peninsula, reported to sheriff's deputies Saturday that an outboard motor valued at $360 was taken from his boat docked at Paradise Yacht Harbor between March 1 and Saturday.

Four Inducted Into Service

Four men were inducted into the armed forces in February by the Marin Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer reported today.

They are: Keith Majesky of San Anselmo, Thomas Quintana of Novato, Edward Kelly of Sunnyvale, and Brace Hayden of Winters. Kelly and Hayden were both registered with the Marin board.

The four will serve in the Army. The February quota was 15, but quotas are often unfilled.

The county draft quota for March is 27 and will be held to men with lottery numbers under 90, Mrs. Kinzer said.

Hearing Set In Auto Theft

James T. Suttie, 18, of 5 Grandview Avenue, Petaluma, was scheduled for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for car theft.

Suttie was arrested Friday when police investigated the report of a minor car fire at Howard and Western streets. Sgt. James J. Matthews said Suttie claimed ownership of the car, but ran away when questioning continued.

Matthews said the car has been reported stolen Thursday from Mike R. McCulloch of Santa Rosa. Suttie was arrested when he returned to the scene of the fire and was booked into Sonoma County Jail.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Delays May Balk Lawsuits

A person with a cause for legal action, like a personal injury, should not dawdle in pressing his claim. If you do not file a complaint or go to trial within certain time limits, the law bars later legal action.

Besides, a court can dismiss your claim if the case is delayed too long before trial. For example, a case must be brought to actual trial within five years after the complaint if filed or it is dismissed. And the court may dismiss a case if it is not tried after two years.

Take Suzie Starr. She slipped and fell at a church social, hurting herself badly. She sued the church. He lawyer filed her complaint right away. The defense wanted Suzie's medical history; and it had some questions about what happened.

At first Suzie refused an examination by independent doctors. After a long delay, she agreed. Then she wouldn't go to the opposing lawyer's office to answer questions. Two years passed. The lawyers for the church asked the court to dismiss the case for lack of prosecution. The court granted the motion.

If her suit was to stay alive Suzie would have had to show excusable delay in bringing the case to trial. She didn't.

The plaintiff has to press his claim even though the defense causes some delay.

When an injured party seeks special relief, such as an injunction, the suit may be barred by "laches." The court frowns upon delay in the enforcement of any rights.

In one such case, a civil service worker was fired. After six months, he filed for a writ of mandate in court to get his job back. Meantime, the city had searched nationwide to replace him, and his successor had been at work for three months. Although the replaced worker might once have had a good lawsuit, the court said he had delayed too long. "Laches" pre-

Two Boys Cited On Marijuana

Two Sleepy Hollow boys aged 14 and 15 were cited Friday night by sheriff's deputies for possession of marijuana after Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. reported a beer bottle was tossed at him from a passing vehicle.

Goldstein, who lives at 10 Green Valley Court, Sleepy Hollow, told the sheriff's office he was looking for his son's stolen bicycle when the bottle was thrown from a pickup truck near his home.

Deputies later stopped a pickup truck matching the judge's description on Butterfield Road.

While looking for beer, one officer noticed plastic bags containing a greenish-brown substance under the front seat.

The driver of the truck, Peter C. Locati, 18, of 126 Van Tassel Court, Sleepy Hollow, told the officers he had picked up the youths earlier that evening and accused them of putting the bags under the seat.

The boys, according to deputies, admitted ownership of the plastic bags, and Locati was released. The boys were released in their parent's custody to appear in juvenile court.

Petaluma Man Is Found Dead

Raymond F. Kennaley, 45, of 415 Seventh Street, Apt. 2, Petaluma, was found dead in his car at 6:35 a.m. today on a private lane of Stage Gulch and Freitas roads, Petaluma.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said the car was found by a rancher, Eulysis Martinelii. A hose attached to the exhaust extended into the car. Johansen said papers in the car indicated that Kennaley may have been a technical sergeant in the Air Force.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Not All Modern Remedies Represent Best Of Products

It has been said that the main difference between man and animals is that man loves to take medicines. This was not too much of a problem a few generations ago, but today there are thousands of drugs, and many cause undesirable and even serious side effects. This is the price we pay for our gains in the conquest of disease.

Not all modern remedies represent truly technological advances. Chemists add or subtract a molecule or two from an established product and come up with a drug that is better or worse. Now and then the better becomes the worse.

AS A SEDATIVE, phenobarbital is a classic. Unfortunately, German chemists, in trying to find a nonbarbiturate substitute, altered its molecular structure and came up with thalidomide. Europeans bought it without a prescription, and in time, thousands, including pregnant women, were using the preparation for sleep.

Shortly thereafter, phocomelia, a congenital malformation that was considered rare, was seen with increasing frequency. Most German clinics had not seen a child with phocomelia during the decade prior to 1959. That year 17 babies were born with abbreviated hands and feet, 126 the next year, and 477 in 1961. At least 50 per cent of the mothers had taken thalidomide in early pregnancy.

LUCKILY, THE DRUG was not approved for sale in our country. The FDA carefully evaluates the potential toxicity of new drugs, and adverse reactions are reported to the medical profession.

Several drugs now on the market are becoming notorious for their unwanted side effects. Some will continue to be available because using them involves less risk than allowing the disease to go untreated.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TRAINING AND TALKING

N. N. writes: Can a baby be toilet trained before she learns to talk?

REPLY

Toilet training usually is accomplished between the ages of 2 and 3. By this time, most children are talking. In some instances, however, the opposite occurs. Furthermore, if the tot is not talking before age 3, a thoro examination is advisable with particular reference to hearing.

NO PRESSURE

M. B. writes: How many eggs can a man with no blood pressure have for breakfast?

REPLY

A man with no blood pressure can't even cackle. Eggs present no problem for many persons with low or normal blood pressure. From this standpoint, the answer depends more upon the blood cholesterol level than on the blood pressure reading.

BOILS AND DIABETES

E. E. C. writes: Are repeated boils due to sugar in the blood?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Boils occur in diabetics and in the debilitated dividuals. Boils are likely to resions also develop in healthy individuals. Boils are ilkely to recur when nests of staph bacteria are harbored in the nose and throat. These microorganisms can be eliminated.

TENDON TROUBLE

T. G. writes: What treatment is given baseball players when they have a sore arm because of tendon trouble?

REPLY

Rest, heat, and massage. The corticosteroids are the most popular remedies at present. If these measures are not successful, surgery may be indicated.

Today's Health Hint

For best results, the person must have faith in his physician.

College Board Sets Session March 19

The Marin Junior College District board will not meet tomorrow night as erroneously reported in the Independent-Journal Thursday.

The next scheduled board meeting is 8 p.m. March 19 at Olney Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield.

Candidates To Air Issues

Arnold Baptiste and J. Wayne Womack have agreed to appear at a candidate's night Wednesday to make their pitch for the post of supervisor of the Fifth District, North Marin.

They will speak at a meeting of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at 8 p.m. in Room 255 of the new Hall of Justice.

Chairman Margaret Azevedo said the two candidates will answer questions on housing, transportation and other topics in which MCCA is particularly concerned. The meeting is open to the public.

Baptiste and Womack are the two announced candidates for the post now held by Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who will retire at the end of this year.

Use Permit Is Sought For Bank

Use permits to allow a Northgate branch of the Bank of Marin at 4400 Redwood Highway, a storage yard for wrecked autos at 40 Paul Drive, and a new warehouse, office and laboratory for Holiday Magic at 49 Larkspur Street, will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at city hall.

Also the commission will be asked for architectural approval for a proposed restaurant at 995 Francisco Boulevard, and discussion of a proposed 24-hour diesel fuel station will be continued.

Novato Officials Study Areas For Shopping

Novato officials have five locations from which to choose one as most suitable for development of a sub-regional shopping center.

The five locations were studied Saturday at an all-day joint meeting of the Novato City Council, Novato Planning Commission and Downtown Sudy Committee.

Development potential of the locations were explained by Sedway and Cooke, planning consultants for the downtown study, reported Brian W. Mattson, planning director.

The locations are Highway 37 and South Novato Boulevard; San Marin Drive and Highway 101; Pinheiro property, which lies north of Olive Avenue and West of Highway 101; expansion of downtown area at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue into Marion School property; and expansion of the existing Novato Fair Shopping Center.

Mattson said the next step is for the commission and the downtown study committee to evaluate the choices and resolve which would be most feasible.

He said a joint session was tentatively planned for Thursday but wasn't set.

Four Marinwood Youths Are Arrested, Girl Cited

Four Marinwood youths were arrested and a 17-year-old girl cited Friday night on various charges involving beer, marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Sheriff's deputies reported the youths were in a car near 513 Idyleberry Drive, Marinwood, at 10:50 p.m. when a deputy became suspicious because he saw two youths fleeing and there had been an earlier report of suspicious activity in the area.

There was an aroma of marijuana and evidence of beer drinking, deputies said.

Lisa Ann Nance, 19, of 562 Idyleberry Road, was arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Sandra Lee Smith, 18, of 513 Idylberry Road, was arrested on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Robert Sullivan Morris, 19, of 651 Idylberry Road, was arrested on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was being used and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

James Stephen Maring, 19, of 120 El Capitan Drive, Lucas Valley, was arrested on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Deputies reported finding blue pills in the glove compartment.

All were released on their own recognizance and scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

The 17-year-old Marinwood girl was sent to juvenile hall on suspicion of possession of alcohol.

Two Ecology Offices Merge

The Mill Valley and Kentfield offices of the Marin Ecology Center have merged into one at 937 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, across the street from the College of Marin.

Response to the center's call for commuter car pooling to reduce air pollution has been good, the group said.

Virus Lectures Set This Month

John J. Holland, professor of biology at the University of California at San Diego, will give two public lectures on virus infections this month in Room 6 of St. Thomas Hall at Dominican College in San Rafael.

A lecture on "Molecular Biology of Human and Animal Virus Infections" will be presented at 4:30 p.m. on March 19. "Chronic Abortive and Slow Virus Infections and their Implications for Cancer and Degenerative Diseases" will be discussed March 20 at 9 a.m.

The lectures are sponsored by the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Math Papers

Three students at San Domenico will present papers on mathematics at the Junior High School Mathematics Conference from 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturday at San Rafael High School. They are Cathrin Callas, Jane Pansini and Megan Madden.

Prison Inmates See Themselves

San Quentin Prison inmates had a rare chance to watch for themselves on television Saturday night when they viewed the telecast of Johnny Cash's concert at the prison.

More than 1,000 inmates from the north and west cellblocks were permitted out of their cells to watch the program.

One of the high points of the concert for the inmates was the country singer's rendition of "San Quentin" a song he wrote especially for the concert, filmed almost a year ago.

Injuries Minor In Motorcycle Crash

Two Fairfax women suffered scraped knees yesterday morning when their motorcycle toppled over at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Officers said Susan Laura Katz, 21, of 147 Meernaa Avenue, the driver, and her passenger, Ann Lineweave, 25, of the same address, were thrown from the motorcycle as it went down in a sudden stop for traffic ahead at 11:15 a.m. They weren't hospitalized.

Sonoma Civic Chiefs To Eye Population

Population projections will be discussed at the Sonoma County Mayors' and Councilmen's Association meeting Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Rohnert Park Community Center.

Speakers will be William R. Zim, vice president of Baxter, McDonald and Co., planning and management consultants of Berkeley, and Robert H. Meyer, Petaluma city manager.

Unruh, Rep. Brown Endorsed By CDC

FRESNO (UPI) — Assemblyman Jess Unruh today claimed the endorsement and campaign assistance of the 10,000-member California Democratic Council in his challenge to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Unruh and Rep. George Brown of Monterey Park were the overwhelming choices for the CDC's gubernatorial and U.S. Senatorial endorsements Sunday at its annual convention.

Brown, a self-described liberal and longtime favorite of the volunteer organization, smothered fellow Democratic Congressman John V. Tunney in endorsement balloting, 644 to a mere 52.

Aides to Tunney, whom latest polls show running ahead of Brown in their Senate race, said the candidate did not really exp. to get the CDC nod.

Tunney after the convention issued a bittersweet statement saying "My candidacy and my campaign would not have been affected if I had received the endorsement and it is not affected by not getting it."

Brown, an early critic of the Vietnam War, which endeared him to the CDC, challenged Tunney to a debate. Tunney conditionally accepted. Brown sneered at his opponent:

"John is very proud of the fact that he is the son of a great fighting champion and would like to see him win his own spurs by being a great fighting politician instead of a lightweight contender."

Unruh, who feuded bitterly with the CDC in past years but buried the hatched in 1969, was roundly applauded by delegates in his pre-endorsement speech seeking their support.

Unruh, the only major Democratic gubernatorial candidate, criticized both violent student militants and Reagan, who is expected to announce his re-election candidacy Tuesday.

The Assembly Democratic leader said campus turbulence was an "indispensible element in the political survival" of the governor.

"If it had not existed, he would have had to invent it," Unruh said. "The plain and simple and brutal fact is that Ronald Reagan has sponsored the war on our campuses, either by deliberate design or simple stupidity."

The grassroots group endorsed state Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, for lieutenant governor, 457 to 161, over Cecilia Padroza, a Los Angeles travel agent.

Two other Democratic candidates for lieutenant governor. San Francisco investment broker Robert Coate and Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Robert Wenke, did not attend and were not nominated for the CDC endorsement.

Former State Public Utilities Commissioner William M. Bennett, another convention absentee and unannounced candidate, was the CDC's choice for attorney general. His supporters predicted he would run. Edmund G. Brown Jr., the 31-year-old son of the former governor, won unopposed the endorsement for secretary of state.

Milton G. Gordon, a San Diego hotel executive, was unopposed and won CDC support for his state treasurer drive. Herman Sillas, a Los Angeles attorney, was endorsed over Orange County Democratic Party Chairman John Dean, 477 to 127, for controller.

Gov. Reagan Is Ready To Announce

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan says voters in 1966 "sent us to Sacramento to do something aboht that leaky old barge" of state government.

Tuesday, he embarks on a re-election campaign which he says is dedicated to finish the job of turning that old barge into a smoothly running, effisient ship of state.

The Republiran governor formally is expected to announce for a second term Tuesday afternoon in a news conference at a Sacramento hotel across the street from the Capitol. Reagan himself has declined to acknowledge his re-election plans but h already has a campaign organization oild and ready to go and party leaders say there is no doubt that he is, in fact, already running.

Wednesday, he sets off in a chartered plane for a two-pronged, two-week campaign tour to: 1. raise money for his campaign, and 2. display his programs, accomplishments and unfinished business for the voters.

Reagan is not expected to have any opposition in the June 2 primary.

The only major Democratic candidate so far is Assembly Democratic leader Jess Unruh of Inglewood, Reagan's chief antagonist in the legislature the past three years.

Reagan campaign aides are keeping his strategy secret until he formally announces his 1970 election plans.

A major part of the campaign will be trying to shepherd his program through the legislature.

CDC Favors Busing Of Children

FRESNO (UPI)—The California Democratic Council has gone on record favoring the busing of children to achieve racial integration of public schools.

During a weekend endorsing convention the CDC unanimously approved a resolution stating "school boundaries must be immediately redrawn to desegregate schools and that in some and desirable to achieve racial balance in schools."

The measure also urged local CDC clubs to work against proposals that would ban the busing of children.

The liberal grassroots organization also adopted a resolution condeming the Nixon Administration for its prosecution of the "Chicago 7" on riot conspiracy charges.

It said the administration violated the constitutional rights of the defendants "to exert political power through the use of criminal prosecutions."

Five of the seven persons on trial were recently convicted of inciting a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Other resolutions adopted:

—Would withhold CDC support from any candidate for public office who does not fully support the grape boycott.

—Said the state water project was of "dubious value" and opposed construction of the peripheral canal to channel water around the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta to Southern California.

—Endorsed Proposition 8 on the June 2 primary ballot that proponents say will lower property taxes by increasing homeowners' exemptions and requiring the state to finance a greater amount of the cost of welfare and local schools.

—Urged the U.S. Senate to rescind its Gulf of Tonkin Resolution, which the CDC said was the measure "upon which the present war in Vietnam is based."

—Demanded an immediate ceasefire in Vietnam, withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the Southeast Asian Nation and an end to American involvement in Laos.

—Registered the group's opposition to deployment of the Nixon Administration's safeguard antiballistic missile system.

—Recommended abolition of a peace time military draft.

Rosary Beads Stolen

A thief stole several strings of Rosary beads when he smashed a window and broke into Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury, Third Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, between 6 p.m. Saturday and 10:30 a.m. yesterday, police said today.

Four Hurt—Three In Cars, One On Cycle

Four persons were injured in three separate accidents yesterday in Marin, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Judy A. Pleich, 23, of 100 Bayo Vista Way, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion suffered in a one-car crash southbound on the Shoreline Highway south of Stinson Beach.

The driver of the auto, Betty E. Furus, 26, of Santa Rosa said she went off the road while rounding a sharp turn and hit a telephone pole about 8:50 p.m.

Blaine T. Adkins, 35, of 10 Gilbert Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General for a broken and cut nose after his car went off North San Pedro Road and struck a utility pole about 6:55 p.m. Adkins, according to the Highway Patrol, said he was not paying attention to his driving.

Anne Lineweaver, 25, of 147 Meernaa Avenue, Fairfax, was treated at Marin General for scrapes and bruises of the scalp, knee and ankle after she was thrown from a motorcycle on Drake Boulevard west of Eliseo Drive at 11:15 a.m.

Susan L. Katz, 21, of the same address, told the highway patrol a car in front of her stopped for a yellow light and she was forced to brake suddenly, causing the motorcycle to roll over. She received scraped knees in the accident but sough private medical aid.

Larkspur Planners To Consider Business

A request for a zoning variance to allow the sale of planted containers on a deck at the rear of 1000 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, will be considered by the city's planning commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Discussion of a sign for the hardware store in the Bon Air shopping center will continue at the meeting.

Guerrillas In Guatemala Successful In Kidnapings

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan guerrillas are batting 1.000 with their new tactic of kidnaping hostages to exchange for rebels held captive.

The insurgents freed U.S. diplomat Sean M. Holly unharmed Sunday after holding him for 38½ hours under threat of execution unless the government released three jailed rebels. Three terrorists yielded up in exchange for Holly arrived in Mexico City Sunday night.

It was still not known what the guerrillas planned for a second man they kidnaped Friday, Gabriel Biguria, a 55-year-old banker and attorney.

Holly and Biguria were seized one week after the leftists kidnaped Foreign Minister Alberto Fuentes Mohr. He was held 28 hours, then released after the government freed an imprisoned leftist student and turned him over to the Mexican Embassy.

The guerrillas who have been staging the abductions call themselves the Fuerzas Armadas Rebeldes—FAR or Rebel Armed Forces.

Holly, 40-year-old father of five, was abducted by six armed men Friday after his car was blocked by two other automobiles while he was en route home from his office.

"Suddenly, two boys carrying machine guns told me to get out," he told a news conference.

He was put in a small European car, his eyeglasses removed and replaced with dark glasses. Cotton was stuffed between his eyes and the glasses so he could not see.

After a ride of about 10 minutes, he was transferred to a truck and he believed, taken out into the countryside.

While in captivity, he was moved twice and at one point was put on a horse.

At times his captors conversed with him and removed the dark glasses, but without his own glasses he was unable to get a good look at them. He noticed that they kept their faces masked.

"They never let go of those machine guns," he added.

Holly said his captors talked about the reasons for his abduction: U.S. interests in Guatemala, U.S. involvement in Vietnam and the policies of the FAR.

After midnight Saturday, more persons arrived where he was being held, talked briefly with his captors, then took him by truck into Guatemala City to a house where he was held for about three hours. Then he was taken to the Church of Divine Providence and told not to get in touch with anyone for at least an hour.

Universal Health Plan Is Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Medical Assocation's council proposed today a voluntary universal health benefits program—replacing medicare—which would allow everyone an annual choice of his health coverage plan.

The council's proposal called for placing administrative repossibility with the U.S. Civil Service Commission's Bureau of Retirement and Insurance. The bureau would allocate all federal health funds—from Social Security and general tax revenues.

The proposal will come before the association's House of Delegates—for debate on Wednesday.

The council said its plan is designed to create order "out of the patchwork quilt of programs now existing..."

Dr. Albert G. Miller, CMA president, supports the 25-member council's proposal. He contends that organized medicine must assume the initiative in developing universal health benefit programs.

Miller said the price tags for a dozen national health insurance proposals now under discussion range from $11 billion $40 billion.

Miller said compulsory universal health insurance has been predicted for America within five years.

He said organized medicine must pursue enactment of a health program providing these elements:

—Free choice of physician and hospital.

—Free choice of approved coverage programs, including private insurance and employer-supported insurance.

—The degree of financial assistance to be based on need.

Bike Rider In Fair Condition

Gail Virginia Bateson, 14, of 15 Cabrillo Court, San Rafael, was reported n fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after suffering unspecified head injuries Saturday in a collision of two bicycles in Terra Linda.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Miss Bateson was eastbound when a westbound bicycle driven by Craig Allen Harris, 7, of 680 Bamboo Terrace, turned left in front of her at 4:35 p.m.

Harris was turning into a driveway at 773 Del Ganado Road when the collision occurred, officers said.

Couple Wed In Shanghai Celebrate 50th Anniversary

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jaroske of Petaluma celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by greeting many friends from Petaluma, Penngrove and Santa Rosa who dropped in to congratulate them on March 2.

Married in Shanghai, where Mr. Jaroske was engaged in U.S. Consular work, the couple have continued their world travels over the years. Their 48th anniversary was spent aboard ship en route to Australia and their 49th aboard ship on a four-month world cruise.

Their son, Leslie, born in Shanghai, now resides in Los Angeles with his wife, Lucy. Ann W. Wittwer, their daughter, who lives in Westlake, served refreshments to the guests.

Mr. Jaroske, semi-retired, has spent the past 10 years active in Sacramento as a legislative advocate.

THE WALTER Freitases of San Rafael will leave Sunday on a six weeks tour of Europe. They will pick up a car and drive through several countries planning to spend most of their time in Portugal and Spain. But they will celebrate their sixth wedding anniversary in Vienna. During their absence Lillian Freitas's sister, Mrs. Charles Hoffman, will occupy their home.

Mrs. Freitas is happy to have a new grandson, born just before her planned departure. He's Matthew Hunter French, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy French of Ross. The couple also have another son, Calvin LeRoy French Jr.

DR. AND Mrs. Richard Quinn and their 4 year old son Timothy, have been visiting Mrs. Quinn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marzell in Novato. Dr. Quinn returned to Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he has been taking post graduate work and Mrs. Quinn and Timothy returned home Friday.

MRS. JAMES OLSON

New President Of Guild Is Mrs. Olson

Mrs. James Olson of Tiburon is the new president of the Greenbrae Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science. Prior to being elected president she served as coordinator of guilds. She has been a member for a year and a half.

The Greenbrae Guild cosponsors the annual ski swap with the Ross Guild and also participates in the Festival of Trees. Both events raise funds for the museum to care for animals and provide science education classes for children and adults.

Marilyn Olson attended Drury College in Springfield, Mo., and is now attending San Francisco State College. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club and a board member of the Little Reed Heights Home Owners Association.

The Olsons have lived in Marin for a year and a half and have a 13-year-old daughter, Christine. Mrs. Olson's hobbies are bridge and bicycle riding and in addition to the museum guild she enjoys family outings.

Other guild officers are Mmes. Thomas Toldrian, vice president; Peter Siewert, recording secretary; John McCormick, corresponding secretary; Mario Delchini, treasurer; Jack Murdock, Festival of Trees chairman; H.J. Recktenwalk, ski swap chairman; and Alfred Fioresi, publicity chairman.

Are You Trapped In A Ski Weekend Syndrome?

By JEANNE TOOMEY
The Associated Press

Ski resorts have become one of the most "in" places to meet men.

Each weekend finds thousands of women skiers and snow bunnies alike heading for resorts from Sun Valley to Big Vanilla to search the slopes for a mate.

Some girls do enjoy the healthy exercise and outdoor activity associated with the sport. They enjoy male companionship and enjoy meeting members of the opposite sex, but finding a mate is not their primary goal. These women get the most enjoyment out of their ski outings.

ON THE other hand, reports New York psychiatrist Dr. Judith Bronner-Huszar, too many girls find themselves enmeshed in the ski weekend syndrome.

"I've had several patients who were compulsive weekend skiers," she says. "Compulsive weekend skiers feel miserable about even one single missed ski weekend, but they do not ski because they enjoy the sport. They feel they must keep on the slopes or in the lodges in order to find a companion."

Men know this, she claims, and it makes the girls seem less attractive because they are wearing a psycological badge reading "desparate."

Dr. Bronner-Huszar tells of one attractive patient who used to belong to a ski club and took pride in the fact that she never missed a ski weekend.

"Unlike the snow bunnies, those beautiful garbed gals who spend the weekend in the lounges without ever putting on a pair of skis, my patient was a competent skier," comments the young, red-haired psychiatrist.

"Unfortunately her pursuits led nowhere except down the slopes. It wasn't until she finally realized that the ski club constituted, for her, only busy compulsive work that she was able to break the pattern."

HOW DOES ONE break the ties of the "ski weekend syndrome?" Dr. Bonner-Huszar says the most important step into the category. This requires honest self-evaluation. "If you enjoy skiing, fine. Continue and by all means genuinely enjoy it," she advises.

Cultivating acquaintances outside the confines of your skiing circle is exceptionally important.

Next Dr. Bronner-Huszar advises taking a long look at your past and current male friends. "What are your relationships like — one-night stands, six-month heartbreaks, or deep, warm, close long-lasting ones?" she asks.

If they fall into the first two categories, she says it is essential to find out where you are going wrong. "Unless a person understands why he makes mistakes, he will constantly repeat them, get involved with the wrong partners, under the wrong circumstances and in the worst possible fashion," she cautions. "The wrong behavior patterns must be broken.

"IF NECESSARY, seek help from friends, parents relatives, or failing that, a psychiatrist."

Dr. Bronner-Huszar adds, "In order to establish a really meaningful relationship, one must be able to contribute one's own share. A worthwhile person wouldn't want someone who is self-centered, unstable, inadequate, bypassed by anyone desirable and worthy."

Most important, she tells women never to put themselves in the position of being leftover —patricularly at a ski resort. "She who is leftover at the American ski weekend scene is in danger of feeling very much leftover, the leftover of the leftovers . . . This does not have to be the case. The smart ski weekender can learn to enjoy the sport, like and love in a liberated, rational fashion," she says.

NOW A TRADITION

The party hosted by the Nave family to introduce civic and business leaders of Marin to commanders and staff officers at Hamilton Air Force has become an annual tradition. Stopping to talk at the gathering yesterday at Nero's restaurant in Novato are, from left, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nave, Mrs. Lee Sarter, base commander Colonel Sarter, William Nave Sr., and San Rafael Mayor Paul Bettini and his wife.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Five Dollars Worth Of Pills And Liquor Almost Cost A Life

DEAR HELEN,

Our 14-year-old daughter spent three days in the hospital and nearly died because she tried several pills bought from friends, and washed them down with vodka and whisky - also bought from a teen-ager, who stole it from home. In all, it cost Mandy less than $5 to all but take her life. She "wanted to see what a high felt like." We learned later that the kids she was with that afternoon tried to revive her by throwing snow in her face. After a couple of hours they got scared, brought her home, rang the doorbell, and left her unconscious on the porch.

While Mandy was recovering I did what I've never done before: Read her mail. She has pen pals in several states, and what I learned is so frightening I think all parents should hear it.

These 13-to 15-year-olds brag about getting stoned, sniffing "2-Low" or "2-Oil which makes them high, going on beer busts, popping pills; and they almost all agree "pot's okay." One girl wrote, "We've been on a hoarding kick for two months for this party, and we've got three 'fifths' of booze — the kids sneaked it out of their houses a half-cup at a time." Another said, "I think I'll drop acid — I'm so depressed." She was talking about her 21-year-old boy friend who "uses." Parties are whenever parents go away, and they favor pills over marijuana because they're easier to get and "your folks can't smell them."

Granted, some of this may be bragging. I can just imagine how Mandy's near miss will be dramatized in her letters — but, Helen, these kids may kill themselves, or mess up their lives completely. They even talk of getting pregnant as if it were something you catch, like a cold.

Mandy swears she'll never try it again, but I'm afraid she is more concerned about getting caught and being sick than right or wrong.

Helen, we're good (not goody-goody) church-going people as are the families of all the others. Most of their letters I'll admit, are about normal teen life — studies, clubs, bike-hikes, sports, everyday fun — but then up pop allusions to drugs, booze and sex, in words that make me shudder, and I wonder, where have we parents gone wrong?

—WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED:

Stop blaming yourselves. It binds you to failure.

This is what I said in my long personal letter to you; and it's what I repeat to all you good, conscientious — and terribly frightened — parents out there. People who cower behind the cop-out phrase "Where did we go wrong?" have no stamina left to guide their children back from danger. You can't do it with hand-wringing, which squeezes off every drop of filial respect or pride. You can't do it with house arrest or a ban the friends edict — those over-punishments inspired by fear. You can't do it by abdicating in a frenzy of shame.

But you can reach your kids through listening, showing them you're aware of the temptations they face, but not overwhelmed by them; giving them strength because you are strong, faith in themselves because you have faith in their basic good sense, the courage to turn on naturally because you enjoy life and see great hope for the future.

Rather than beat yourselves blind with "How have we failed?", feel secure in the knowledge that you are good parents. But don't get smug about it. When you've conquered fear, proved that you are wise, unshockable, understanding friends (not pals, remember — friends) as well as firm supervisors, your children may lean a bit (didn't you at their age?) but they won't fall flat. In fact, they'll listen to you almost as much as you listen to them. — H.

P.S. For a happier side of family life, read below:

DEAR HELEN:

The following letter was written to use by our two daughters. I believe it's worth sharing, as it proves again that teen-agers do approve and confide in parents — if parents meet them halfway. — V.L.Q.

Mom and Dad: All the expressions of happiness, love, passion, tenderness and understanding are mere reminders of the love which binds two hearts . . . A love that began on a blind date: A tall masculine boy, and a petite bouncy girl.

The girl giving up her past: (pretzels, slumber parties, steadies —two at a time— and freedom), to become a devoted wife and mother. The boy giving up his past flings — sexy girls, flashy cars, sometimes cigarettes and poker games, to become a faithful, understanding husband and father.

Encountering hills which glocked your way, you struggled to overcome them — sometimes being slapped down to climb them over and over again.

A mother, devoting her life to those around her. A father, a hero in the eyes of his daughters, devoting long hours (in Boy Scout work) to sons not of his own blood, but just as close to his heart. A man, big enough to take the guff dished out to him, and turn it into mere words with no definite meaning. A man who's big enough to keep a clean vocabulary. A man and woman who have kept their children straight and true.

This 25th day of November is just another speck of passing time, yet in our hearts, time stops, takes a bow to the happiest couple we know, and goes fleeting on with a smile, knowing it leaves behind a love of a feeling. — VIRGINIA AND GWEN

Mrs. Ivan Oliverie of Tiburon served as matron of honor and Mrs. William Egan Jr. of Ft. Hood, Tex., the bride's sister-in-law, and Judy Cramer of Tiburon were the bridesmaids.

Robert Selna of Novato served as best man for his brother. The bride's brother, Lt. William Egan, and Donald Bicenius of Tiburon seated the guests.

After the reception at the San Rafael Elks Club, the couple left for an Alcopulco wedding trip. They will return to live in Greenbrae.

The bride, who is a hostess with Braniff International Airways, is a graduate of East High School in Denver and attended Christian College in Columbia, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Egan of Laguna Niguel are her parents.

Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Albertazzi of Mill Valley. A graduate of Marin Catholic High School, he is the owner of Larry's barber shop in Tiburon.

'With It' Accent

Add a "with it" accent to your home with a squared-off parsons table bought at an unfinished furniture store. Enamel it in a bright, bold shade or a pastel.

TO PUBLISH ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING STORIES IN THE I-J

Forms for engagement and wedding story information to be printed in the Independent-Journal are available from the I-J offices in San Rafael, Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma.

Wedding forms should be returned promptly to the I-J office in your area and information will be printed immediately after the wedding. Photographers should be urged to submit a print of the wedding picture promptly. Color photographs cannot be used.

The Independent-Journal does not print wedding stories or photographs received more than seven days after the wedding.

An engagement form may be accompanied by a professional black and white photograph, which may be picked up at the I-J office after publication. Snapshots, polaroid or color pictures are not suitable.

Restrooms

Don't just walk out in a huff when you find an unsavory restroom. Find someone in authority and let him know that you are "mad," the Cleanliness Bureau suggests. Keep in mind that no organization wants to lose trade. If you can't find towels or soap, if there is no hot water, if the floor is dirty—then complain. This is the best way to improve the situation, the bureau reminds.

Cardigan Coats

Cardigans will be the most popular coat shape for spring, says the New York Couture Business Council. This is the narrow sweater look. Other choices include the robe coat, the high small fitting coat that belts and flares, and the short, tent-like raincoat. There will be fewer collars.

MUSIC REVIEWS

Masterful Mahler By Ozawa, Symphony

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

"That was worth the whole trip!" raved one man as he left Terra Linda High School Gymnasium Saturday night. He was speaking of Seiji Ozawa's sensational conducting of the San Francisco Symphony in Mahler's Symphony No. 1 (Titan).

That about summed up the situation for some 1,800 people who attended the first in the three-concert series being presented by the orchestra in Marin for the first time. Reaction had been polite to the opening Mozart Divertimento in D Major for Strings and the Saint-Saens Concerto in A Minor for Viloncello and Orchestra, featuring the 14-year-old Chinese-American prodgiy Yo-Yo Ma.

But at the end of the first movement of the Mahler a visible and audible wave of excitement swept through the audience.

Until then there had been great disappointment among those seated on the flat floor who saw nothing but the tips of violin bows and Ozawa's head and arms, for no stage or risers had been provided. However, with the beginning of the symphony everyone was so entranced with the sheer brilliance of the sound that sight no longer mattered.

So incredible was this neglect that I asked the reason and hasten to assure those planning to attend the April 11 and May 9 concerts that this situation will be remedied. A firm had failed at the last minute to fulfill a contract to build a stage.

Ozawa must be considered one of the great interpreters of Mahler, judging from his reading of the Symphony No. 1. It is ideally suited to his style, which excels in both infinitessimally subtle and ethereal effects and blazing, tempestuous climaxes.

Worthily sub-titled "Titan," for its length and primordial power, the symphony in its March 4-7 performances was heard for the first time in this region in its full five-movement form, including the controversial second movement rediscovered in 1967.

It is hard to understand how it could have been omitted so great is its lyrical beauty and welcome contrast with the rest o fthe monumental work.

Performance was inspired, with many seldom heard highlights, such as the seamless flow of barely audible sound of the high violins in the first movement and the magnificent playing of the brasses, especially in the last movement. The standing ovation was well deserved.

Major impression in the Saint-Saens Concerto was young Yo-Yo-Ma's mellifluous tonal quality. And his technical prowess was phenomenal for one so young. He should become one of the world's top cellists on achieving mature musicianship.

The opening Mozart Divertimento for Strings alone was just what the genre implies — light entertainment, but on the Mozart level that is high quality indeed.

Pointed up once again—Marin's great need for a concert hall in place of "gymnasiums."

Concerto Concert Proves Ideal For College Group

Something new in programming a concerto concert — was offered last night in the Fine Arts theater on the campus by John H. Myers, the College of Marin Community Orchestra and eight soloists.

Six were students and two, adult members of the orchestra, each of whom played one movement of a concerto.

The second half of the program was astounding in that four performers were of virtuoso capacity. Most remarkable were two young pianists, Robert B. Smith and Kenneth Eng, who played so well it was hard to believe this was their first appearance with an orchestra.

The experiment had real musical value for the audience, but its main purpose was to give students the rare and thrilling opportunity of playing with an orchestra.

Smith, playing the first movement of Chopin's Piano Concerto No. 1 in E minor, had the greater opportunity to show a wide variety of pianistic skills in the long movement and showed in the ease and assurance of his performance that he has high professional potentialities. Just as impressive within the narrower range of abilities required by the piece was Eng, playing the third movement of the Mendelssohn Piano Concerto No. 1 in G minor. Mainly demonstrated were his great thythmic vitality and drive within fast rippling passage. He has major talent.

The two adults of virtuoso capacity were Jean Chandler, whose first movement of the Mozart Flute Concerto No. 1 in G Major was marked by superb breath control, very musical phrasing and great technical fluency, and Don Horner, heard in the first movement of the Mozart Bassoon Concerto. I dont' think I have ever heard a bassoon played so fast with more agility through so wide a range—accurately for the most part. If anything, it was perhaps a bit rushed.

Participants in the first half of the program were talented, and most of the flaws noted in their performances were possibly due to nervousness.

Best in the smoothness of overall presentation was Lora Adams in the first movement of the Mozart Violin Concerto No. 5 in A Major. Her tone was sweet, clear and firm, and her technical skill superior.

Performance of pianist Richard Secrist, playing the Von Weber Concertstuck was uneven, most of the time brilliant but blurred in some passages and very insecure at one point.

Contralto Florence Bierman sang the Rossini aria "Per Lui Che Ador" with lovely tonal quality, but she lacked resonance and projection.

Pianist Ralph Reed in the second movement of the Mozart Piano Concerto No. 20 in D minor seemed the most immature with a light, tentative touch but nice sense of rhythm.

Myers conducted with his usual forceful style, and the orchestra played well on the whole. MPS

Apache Indians were so fond of eating dandelions they would search the countryside in troups hunting them in the spring.

Corcoran Is Making Race For Coroner

Frank P. Corcoran Jr., chief civil deputy for Sonoma County, has announced his candidacy for Sonoma County Coroner-Public Administrator in the June 2 election.

Corcoran ran unsuccessfully for the post in 1966, polling 42 per cent of the vote against incumbent coroner Andrew Johansen, who will be seeking reelection in June.

Corcoran, 44, was educated at Santa Rosa Junior College, Sonoma State College and the University of California at Berkeley. He is an Air Force veteran of World War II and the Korean War and took part in 36 combat missions for which he was awarded three air medals. Corcoran currently holds the rank of major in the Air Force Reserve.

He has served on the Sonoma County Economic Development Plan Committee and is a member of the Izaak Walton League, Santa Rosa Congress on Community Progress, American Legion, American Red Cross, Masonic Organizations and the Santa Rosa Congregation Fellowship.

He and his wife and three daughters live in Rohnert Park. In announcing his candidacy, Corcoran said he would use the campaign to make suggestions to modernize the coroner's office.

"The coroner-public administrator's office has moved backward toward 1900 and not forward to the 1970s in its fiscal policy, its secrecy and reporting procedures or lack of procedures," he said.

'Antigone' To Open Friday

"Antigone" by Sophocles will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday by the San Domenico Upper School in Alumnae Hall on the San Anselmo campus.

Anne O'Reilly, a senior from Mill Valley will play the role of Antigone; Mary Bradley, a senior from San Rafael, Ismene and Denise Myers a senior from San Anselmo, Choragos.

The chorus includes Barbara Theis of Mill Valley, Judy Roscoe of San Francisco and Therese Fox of Montana.

Max Klein, Robert Ferro and Peter Kors of the Marin Shakespeare Festival, and Donald Whittemore, Ameille Zemach and Michelle Marrus, professional actors, appear insupporting roles.

Indian Music

A demonstration of musical instruments from India and singing by Usted Ali Akbar Khan will be featured at 8 p.m. March 18 in conjunction with the Marin Society of Artists' Black and White show at the Art and Garden Center in Ross.

New Police Chief: Allen V. Klemme

By THERON A. NEWELL

If a Novatan sees the unfamiliar faces of a man about 40 with two boys, 16 and 14, out fishing at Stafford Lake, or the three of them, with the rest of their family, skiing on the Petaluma river, it might be the Allen V. Klemme family.

He is Novato's new police chief.

If you were to talk to him, he would be congenial and affable, with a ready smile on his face. His soft-spoken voice belies ability to run a police department of 35 personnel.

Klemme, who took over as police chief last Monday, sees some difference in the police problems of his former position as a lieutenant with the South San Francisco police department. He feels that the Novato department offers a greater challenge. South San Francisco, an industrial city of 47,500 crowded into 10 square miles, has more crime than Novato, which has 30,00 people in 20 square miles.

"It (South San Francisco) was quite a challenge, but the national reputation of the Novato police department and the quiet rural area to raise my family made me leave the South San Francisco department after 19 years," he said.

The chief took a cut from $1,248 per month to $1,201 per month to take the Novato position.

"I feel that the potential growth is here and Novato will offer greater challenges in the future," he said. Klemme was at the top of the pay scale there, but he said has more chance for pay advancement in Novato.

He admits that Novato's rolling hills and sparsely settled valleys now offer fewer police problems than his previous position, but said he had no idea of a retirement position when he came to Novato.

He thinks the narcotics problems of the two cities are similar.

"They rise and fall with San Francisco. When that city cracks down on narcotics peddlers and users, they flee to the outskirts, which would be both cities," he said.

South San Francisco is largely an industrial city, which makes it richer in taxes. But it also leads to more burglaries, thefts and embezzlement. Organized crime had a foothold there, Klemme said, and while head of the detective division, he said officers broke a bookmaking ring with 18 arrests. Klemme does not thnk he will encounter such activities in Novato.

"This department (Novato's) will stack up against any in the state" he said.

He said this was due to high standards and methods of operation set up by Roy McLaren and carried on by Robert Di Grazia, Novato's two previous chiefs. He also praised Acting Chief Maurice D. Lafferty, who carried on as department head after Di Grazia left in November to become police superintendent in St. Louis County, Mo.

ALLEN V. KLEMME
Challenge in Novato

Under the Novato system, an officer is assigned to a case and carries it through the courts. "Any man in this department can do everything in the department," he said.

The new chief plans to continue all the public relations activities of the department, such as the ride-along program and officer visits to high schools. And he wants to expand the school visiting program to elementary grades.

"I want the children to learn early in life that the police are their friends and protectors, and carry this image all through school," he said.

Klemme feels there could be some changes in the methods of keeping records in the Novato department.

"There are always new methods and forms for records coming up. I think we can streamline our records system because only about 10 per cent of all police records are used later," he said.

"The new chief does not plan any changes immediately in the assignments of personnel.

"Not until I have made a thorough study of how the entire department and each member of it works, will I consider any changes," he said.

Klemme has purchased a house under construction at 58 Drakewood Lane. He will move his wife, Virginia, and sons, David, a high school student; Kenneth, a junior high school student, and daughter, Linda, 12, a sixth grade student, to Novato after school is out.

Bus Firm May Have Funds Cut

The Marin City Bus Co. that is operating the commuter buses to feed the Tiburon Ferry may not get the full $12,000 subsidy from the Marin County Transit District.

Seymour Kashin, transit district manager, will report to the district directors tomorrow morning th . he is holding up payment on the advice of the county counsel because the bus company has not complied with all terms of the contract.

The transit directors' meeting is set for 8:30 a.m. tomorrow in the supervisors' chambers at Civic Center.

The contract with Marin County Transit Systems of Marin City calls for three buses to operate on four routes. To date, only two small buses are operating, which means that the services provided constitute about two-thirds the amount contracted, said Kashin.

The transit district agreed to pay the private bus firm $12,000 during the first three months. Directors will decide tomorrow whether the payment should be cut to two-thirds, or $9,000.

The Marin County Transit District board also:

NEW MEMBERS—Introduced Novato Mayor Harley McAskill and Kenneth L. Anderson, San Anselmo city councilman, as new members of the board. They succeed Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera and Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley, whose terms expired.

FERRY—Will get a request from Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. to pass a resolution, urging the Golden Gate Bridge District to buy and operate its own ferry between Tiburon and San Francisco.

RATE CHANGE—Will get a request from Marin County Transit Systems to give school children a reduced rate of cents per ride instead of 25 cents. The bus company will also ask for changes in routes to meet the needs of people in Mill Valley and Tiburon.

DRAMA REVIEW

ACT Captures The Spirit Of 'Earnest'

By GARY TISCHLER

SAN FRANCISCO—There are probably some people around who are going to complain that the American Conservatory Theater should have started its 1970 season with something a little more daring, spectacular, pertinent or even revolutionary.

Personally, I'm quite happy with the choice of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being earnest," which kicked off the 1970 ACT season at the Marines' Memorial Theater Saturday.

It is, after all, what theater is all about, at least in the traditional sense of the word. It is oh so very theatrical, but at the same time pungent, witty, fast-moving, and yes, even pertinent, even though physically, it has the slightly wane and delicate look of a carefully preserved attic of remembered ancestors.

The play, a drawing room comedy of manners and mores, circa late 19th century, but very modern, rides sharply on its wit and dialogue and on lines that are full of honest, gentle acid. They are lines that could stand by themselves, but to make the play work, director Jack O'Brien has chosen to stage it and pace it as a period piece. Mime, exaggeration, gesture, pleasantly pregnant pauses and stretched out, exaggerated phrasing is what counts and what makes the whole thing work.

In the end, it is the acting that makes or breaks the whole thing, and in this case, the cast is generally superb.

Peter Donat, distinguished-voiced and elegant, displays a marveous and deft touch for timing in his role as John (Ernest) Worthing, J.P., while Michael Learned (Mrs. Donat) is all smug self-assurance and fluttering romantic'sm as his betrothed-to-be Gwendolyn.

The show-stealer, if there is one in this ine cast, is Joy Carlin, a young (judging by the program picture) lady who is cast eyebrow governess who manas Miss Prism.

Deborah Sussel is Cecily, Ernest's niece, a rather buxom lady slightly suffocating in her lessons, fluttering and eager for something a little more exciting. Angela Paton is suitably and hilariously haughty and knowing as Abigail's money and social-oriented mother.

Paul Staheli's sets have the suitable look and detail of stylish and smug elegance about them.

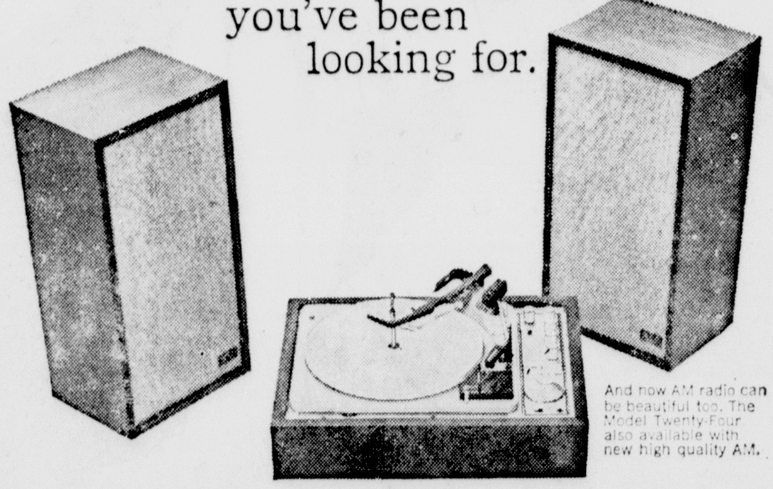
MARIN MUSIC CENTRE
This is the "something good" you've been looking for.


And now AM radio can be beautiful too. The Model Twenty-Four also available with new high quality AM.
When you go shopping for "something really good" in stereo equipment, you usually have to pay more than you expected, or settle for something less than you expected.
The KLH Model Twenty-Four changes that situation—radically.
The Model Twenty-Four is a complete stereo music system. Its performance and sound quality are close—very close—to that of the best equipment that KLH, or anyone else, makes. But it costs only a fraction of what it sounds like. And it fits gracefully into any living room.
There's nothing missing from the Model Twenty-Four. It has a sensitive, drift-free FM stereo tuner, a custom-made Garrard record changer with Pickering cartridge and diamond stylus, plus jacks for external equipment and for making tape recordings. The solid-state circuitry is powerful enough for any living room, and the unobtrusive speaker cabinets contain a pair of full-range, two-speaker systems.
The modest size and price of the Twenty-Four are the results of advanced engineering instead of corner-cutting. Everything from its components to its oiled-walnut cabinetry is designed to provide a genuine surprise rather than that "nice for the money" feeling.
Come see and hear how little it can cost for something really good.

SAUSALITO SCENE—Visiting troubadors, sun worshippers and people watchers rest and enjoy themselves on the steps of Sausalito's Vina Del Mar Park. This gathering this weekend was a small one compared to the numbers that usually throng the park and downtown, drawing complaints from merchants that the city's amenities and businesses are suffering. Unlike this musically inclined group, many engage in panhandling, shoplifting and drug peddling, merchants say. (Independent-Journal photo)

SAUSALITO DROPOUTS

Community Fed Up With Bums

By PAT ANGLE

Sausalito, Marin's scenic city by the bay, annually attracts thousands of tourists who come to view its breathtaking vistas, sample its fine restaurants and browse and buy in its unusual shops.

Recently, however, Sausalito (like countless cities around the nation) has attracted, in growing numbers, a group of visitors about as welcome to residents and downtown businessmen as a swarm of locusts would be to an alfalfa farmer.

They are mostly young, jobless, disaffected and bored, society's dropouts with no place to go and nothing interesting to do. They can be seen in Sausalito every sunny day, lounging on sidewalks and in the city's tiny downtown park.

And Sausalito businessmen—like businessmen in Carmel, and the Haight-Ashbury before them — say they are fed up with what Gerald Olsen, owner of Del Monte Liquors, termed "these bums, these dregs of society."

The Sausalito business community's complaints are not unique — they say these people are driving away their customers and harassing people who visit the area—but are concerns which are being voiced all over the country.

"The same thing is happening here as happened in the Haight," Bob Herr, owner of Bay Scape, a landscaping firm, said; "We no longer have true hippies here, just hard-core criminals and bums."

The charges are many — shoplifting, littering, panhandling, drug peddling, obscenities shouted at merchants and customers, public sexual relations — to name a few.

In past years, the problem would have been an easy one to solve. Once, cities could rid themselves of undesirable persons by arresting them for vagrancy and promising leniency, providing the individuals left town—quickly.

But with the growing concern in recent years about individual rights, most ordinances like those for vagrancy have been struck down as unconstitutional by the courts. California, for example, has had no such ordinances since the mid-sixties.

But Sausalito store owners claim they have their rights, too. "How long can this go on before we have to close our stores because no one will shop here?" many of them ask.

Rosemary Russell of the Sandpiper, a women's clothing store, gave vent to a familiar concern when she said more and more of her customers are telling her they have no intention of returning to Sausalito. "These people make it unpleasant for shoppers to walk down the streets," she said.

Like Harold J. Gutknecht, owner of Swensen's Ice Cream, many merchants in Sausalito and other cities blame city government for its failure to correct the problem. "The city has largely ignored the situation," he said, "and I am starting to feel this inaction is part of a policy of harassment of the downtown businessmen. I am starting to believe the city fathers would prefer to see Sausalito as a residential community with no tourists to create traffic problems," he added.

But Sausalito is always going to be a tourist town, most of the businessmen say — and everyone, including the city — must face that fact. "The city can't bulldoze the downtown and create another Belvedere-Tiburon," Gutknecht said," so they might as well help to make Sausalito a decent tourist town."

Understandably city officials and merchants have a somewhat different view of the seriousness of the problem and what is being done or not being done to solve it.

Herr complained that city police "have plenty of time to set up radar traps to catch speeders on North Bridgeway and give out parking tickets to our customers, but not enough for a foot patrol to preserve law and order downtown."

"The citizens are made out to be criminals for going a few miles over the speed limit or letting their parking meters expire, while the real criminals bask in the sun," he said angrily.

Herr acknowledged the police department has agreed to provide a foot patrol on weekends, but asked cynically: "How long will that last — till after the election?"

Police Chief James D. Wright said he would quickly provide such patrols "if the city will give me more men." He said the department's 20 sworn officers are already spread thin on round-the-clock shifts.

Although Wright shares the businessmen's concern, he does not share their feeling that crime is a great problem downtown. "It is all very annoying, I realize," the chief said, "but the most crime, residential burglaries, and the greatest losses occur in the residential area and, consequently, my men spend most of their time there."

Businessmen interviewed disagreed with the chief's view. One woman said her store lost "between $2,000 and $3,000 last year from shoplifting and I consider that a pretty serious crime problem."

Others complained about loiterers high on drugs. "Someone is going to get it someday," said Harold Puharich, owner of Sausalito Hardware, "and it is a shame we have to wait until then."

Herr pointed to a long-haired young man, obviously freaked on a drug, flailing his arms and rolling his eyes. He wore a long knife on his belt and passersby eyed him warily. "That's a dangerous man," he said, "but we have to wait until he kills someone to arrest him."

Chief Wright and City Mgr. George M. Patterson said some of the problems could be solved if the businessmen were willing to make citizen arrests when they see an offense being committed—which most merchants admitted they have been unwilling to do in the past because it entails a trip to San Rafael and hours spent in Court.

"These people are going to learn they can't have their cake and eat it, too," Patterson said and Wright agreed: "We can't do the job alone, no matter how many policemen we have; we need cooperation from the citizens; after all no one is going to pannandle a policeman."

Most of those merchants interviewed said they are going to make such arrests in the future and notify police immediately. "If we keep calling them every few minutes, it will be interesting to see what response we get," said one man, who asked not to be identified.

Patterson denied charges the city has done nothing about the downtown problem. He said the city enacted ordinances against littering and jaywalking about a year ago, but could only begin enforcing them last month "because the courts asked us to hold off until they were settled in the Hall of Justice and had more room."

In addition, Patterson said the city has agreed to deny any future permit applications from take-out food operations downtown to help curb litter and has hired a man "who spends two-thirds of his time cleaning up in the downtown area."

He said the city has plans to do away with parking on Bridgeway from Princess Street to city hall and widen the sidewalks "to eliminate some of the pedestrian and traffic congestion downtown."

"Pie-in-the-sky," one woman restaurant owner snorted on hearing about the city's plans. "We need action and we need it now."

Patterson countered that residents want "immediate solutions" as soon as they come to the council for help. "Often these projects take time and money."

The businessmen are still not satisfied. One group, identifying itself as "Sausalito Merchants Unified," which is being formed to "give us a voice in city government," has been collecting signatures on petitions asking for a foot patrol and stricter enforcement of city ordinances against panhandling, littering and like offenses.

Herr, who has been spearheading the effort, said the group plans to present its signatures to the city council Tuesday night when it meets to discuss the Bridgeway renovation. He said "several hundred signatures" have been collected, both from businessmen and "residents who are tired of being afraid to come downtown."

On another front, the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce, which met last week to discuss the problem with city officials, plans to meet again Wednesday at 9 a.m. in the Alta Mira Hotel to formulate some possible solutions to present to the city.

One thing is certain: feelings are high all over Sausalito. And most businessmen feel they must accomplish something before the summer tourist rush. Many merchants admit they are now keeping loaded guns in their stores for possible use if a major confrontation occurs.

"Sausalito is turning into an armed camp," Herr said worriedly, "It could be quite a summer."

Legion Of Merit For Col. Truog

Air Force Lt. Col. Nicholas F. Truog of 30 Jacinto Way, Novato, has been given the Legion of Merit Award for planning the engineering involved with the relocation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters from France to Belgium.

Truog's duties included the development, improvement and maintenance of facilities to support the several thousand headquarters personnel from the eight-member nations of NATO.

He is deputy regional civil engineer in the Air Force's western region, and is responsible for the design of all major Air Force construction in eight western states.

Auto Is Stolen

A 1957 brown two-door Chevrolet, license number CUT 680, owned by John J. Young of 16 San Quentin Terrace, was stolen between 4 p.m. Tuesday and 8 p.m. Saturday from the parking lot at Sil's Market, 175 Belvedere Street, San Rafael police said today. The vehicle was valued at $250.

Agency To Study Fairfax's Request For Annexation

A request for annexation of 83 acres to the City of Fairfax will come before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday at 8 p.m. in the board of supervisors chambers at Civic Center.

The property, owned by Edna Getz, is located on the north side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to the west of Fairfax city limits. John W. Hill and Associates, a Novato civil engineering and land surveying firm, is seeking the annexation.

The commissioners will also get a request from Corte Madera Town mgr., Ronald L. Usher for more time to annex 15 acres along Lucky Drive in Greenbrae to the Town of Corte Madera.

Last October, LAFC approved the annexation of the Lucky Drive area to the Corte Madera Sanitary District on condition that the same area be annexed to the town by April 9 this year. Usher seeks a three-month extension of that deadline because the annexation to the town will not be completed until May at the earliest.

Stereo Is Stolen

A stereo tape player and tapes worth $173 were stolen between 4 and 5 p.m. Saturday from the car of Harold R. DeLauff, 40 Lochness Lane, San Rafael, while it was parked at the Santa Venetia Armory, police said today.

Course On Newspapers Is Offered

A college seminar on "How to Use the Newspaper to Teach Reading"—based on a program conducted in Marin at the suggestion of an Independent-Journal executive— is being offered at California State College at Hayward.

The two-unit seminar in Hayward on using the newspaper in education is sponsored by California Newspaper Publishers Association. The seminar began last weekend and will continue Friday from 7 to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

At the suggestion of I-J Circulation Manager Allan Howells, two 15-week accredited courses on the subject were sponsored in Marin in 1968 and 69 by the Marin County School District, Sonoma State College and the I-J.

The idea caught fire across the state, Howells said, and five subcommittees of California Newspaper Publishers Association are now sponsoring seminars in the state.

Stolen Auto Found —Lighter Is Missing

A 1968 Pontiac stolen Thursday night from Dexter Pontiac, Fourth and E streets, San Rafael, was found at 10:52 a.m. Saturday behind Mission Heating, 32 Woodland Avenue, police said today.

The cigarette lighter was missing but police reported the vehicle appeared to be in good condition.

3,993 Keep Ferry Packed Yesterday

A record 3,993 passengers jammed the Tiburon-San Francisco ferry under sunny skies yesterday, leaving several thousand more waiting on the docks as the vessel's capacity of 500 was reached throughout the day.

Yesterday may have been the last weekend service operated by the Golden Gate Bridge District. The company from which the district charters the vessel has demanded that all weekend and midday weekday service be eliminated, a demand to be considered by bridge directors on Friday.

The company, Harbor Carriers, strike-bound since June, claimed last week that the district was "in direct competition" with the company's own service.

A Saturday record of 2,688 passengers also was reported by Harlan Soeten of Mill Valley the district's chief of ferry operations. No Saturday passengers had to be left behind on the docks to wait 90 minutes for the next run, as on Sunday, he said.

Friday also saw a weekday record of 1,862 passengers set, including about 500 commuters each way. Harbor Carriers carried about 300 commuters each way when it operated, and had no weekend service to Marin.

The peak logjam yesterday came at the 12:15 p.m. departure from San Francisco, when about 1,500 potential riders had to be left behind after the vessel's maximum of 500 had been accommodated, Soeten reported.

Marina Plans To Be Studied

Plans for a marina and harbor development on Upper Richardson Bay in a marshland area in east Mill Valley will be the subject of a public hearing before the Mill Valley Planning Commission today at 8 p.m. in city hall.

Also to be discussed at public hearings before the commission are: the Northridge major street plan, a grading plan for Shelter Ridge, an amendment in the city's master plan to allow more dense development in the Alto Bowl area, and a planned unit development of property located at Miller Avenue and Camino Alto, across from Tamalpais High School.

SDS Seizes On Labor Troubles For Its Own Ends

"In fact, every struggle in which students are engaged will be in alliance with workers; it is not just a question of walking picket lines every now and then."—"SDS Work-In 1968," published by SDS national office in Cambridge, Mass.

THESE ARE JUST TWO quotations indicating the new line adopted last year by the Students for a Democratic Society as its best method of promoting what it calls "true revolution." SDS publications are replete with advice to members on how to "radicalize the working class," and the method most advocated is to seize on a labor dispute and turn it into an SDS demonstration.

This is why SDS on Bay Area campuses seized on the San Francisco Typographical Union strike against the Independent-Journal to attempt to stage a demonstration Saturday.

It makes no difference to SDS what issues the strike involves. It makes no difference whether it is justified or not. It makes no difference that violence may lose the strike for the union.

SDS IS NOT INTERESTED in winning strikes. It is interested in overthrowing the democratic system. It would substitute some form of communism. Its leaders, divided into several factions, differ as to just what form. But they agree basically that it doesn't too much matter, as long as democracy, and democratic government, are overthrown.

The object of the violence can be a draft headquarters, a university, a bank, a newspaper. It doesn't matter. The violence is the thing.

AFTER THE "PEOPLE'S PARK" riots in Berkeley, the SDS there issued a pamphlet, "The Battle of Berkeley," in which it accused all other "new left" groups involved of a sell-out — because they had gone ahead with what they and SDS said the protest was about by trying to create other "people's parks."

Said the SDS pamphlet:

"Our position all along has been that the park was not the issue."

The issue, it made clear, was revolution.

MARK RUDD, SDS national secretary who led the violence at Columbia University, put it plainly in a television interview last Aug. 30. He said:

"Until the student is willing to destroy totally and joyfully those repressive structures—to attack and destroy the bourgeous social order—his student movement will always be just that—never truly revolutionary. There can be no liberated university in a dead society. All or nothing. The buildings are yours for the burning, for until they are destroyed, along with civilization and its death, you will not live."

"Along with civilization". . .meaning, it appears, that the "freedom" of which the SDS talks is as phony as the "democratic" in its title, and that the jungle should be substituted for organized society.

SDS SEES MANY symbols, all about it, of what it calls the "repressive society." As its literature makes clear, the ballot box itself is a symbol. The court system is a symbol. Any capitalist institution is a symbol. And the labor union is a symbol—although, for its own purposes, SDS may "build ties" with the unions.

All, it says, must be destroyed.

"... And Airmail This to Washington ... This to London ... This to Bonn ... This to ..."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Unfair Action —But By Whom?

I live fairly close to the Independent-Journal Building and pass it every day on my way to the College of Marin. It would be impossible not to see the damage that has been done to that building.

The union (?) pickets carry signs stating that the I-J is "unfair." I have yet to see anything telling the public how, or in what way the newspaper is "unfair," but I have seen a lot of unfair action on the part of the San Francisco Typographical Workers' Union.

The "union members" are attempting to deny the I-J publishers and the public their constitutional right to freedom of the press. They have, on occasion, tried to stop and/or destroy the delivery trucks. They have threatened advertisers, stores selling the I-J, and the I-J staff. The "union" has tried everything short of (and I hope this isn't taken as a suggestion) murder.

What has the I-J been doing all this time? The publishers, editors, et al have been there at their jobs. To all of you at the I-J, I salute you and hope that you will continue to work for the people of Marin.

Reckless Leaders Endanger Unions

Riots, vandalism and confrontation with authorities seems to be gaining in popularity. No longer are these acts limited to students and minorities. Today, we see our labor unions engaging in the same type of tactics.

I am referring to the recent "labor rally" in San Rafael. I am appalled and ashamed to know that when negotiations break down, that an organization, of which I am a member, must take to the streets in a display of violence and lawlessness.

Let me say most assuredly that decent citizens and the union members I know do not condone this type of behavior. Instead, I believe that certain labor leaders have become drunk with power and are imposing on their membership to help them gain more power under the guise of a labor grievance.

The few who perpetrate the violence, over the imagined or real grievance established by an irresponsible leadership, tend to indicate the larger balance of that membership into a fearful silence.

In conclusion, let me say, I hope this kind of reckless leadership is short lived, because if not it will unquestionably destroy that which has become an institution in this country, labor unions.

Newspaperboy Gives His Opinion

I am one of your 800 or so paper boys. I think that you have done an exceptional job of getting the papers out as early as you have under such difficult conditions.

A while ago, when the San Francisco Examiner had a strike against it, they stopped publication for over a week. But the I-J, during this strike, has never missed a single night of publication.

Mr. (Alan) Howells, the circulation manager, and all the people in the circulation department have done a great job, too. They even ran a bonus night for us carriers under strike conditions. At one point, the papers came out earlier than they did when we even didn't have the strike.

I think the statement that the I-J printed by the strikers that the guards assaulted them was wrong. The guards were hired to protect the district managers and the staff of the newspaper, not to assault anyone.

Once again, I would like to commend you for keeping things going as well as you have, and I will do my best to get the papers out as soon as they come.

What 19th Century Principles Failed?

In your Feb. 26 issue, Mr. Richard Guasco expressed his feelings on the Chicago Seven trial, as well as predicting what this country is headed for unless it replaces the 19th century principles it operates on. However, Mr. Guasco failed to point out these 19th century principles and how they are obsolete; he also failed to specify what "aspects of life" need changing and why. Finally, he made the unsupported statement: "that we know what's right for the other three-plus million people. . .". I would like to know where this comment originates from and what facts he has that supports this casual observation.

These comments of Mr. Guasco stem from a limited amount of thought and fact, and a rather hasty presentation. All in all, his remarks are shallow and, in truth, say nothing.

Pompidou Got What He Deserved

In response to one viewpoint in "What Our Readers Say," dated March 5, French President Pompidou deserved the verbal protests and written petitions he received from people of all faiths who understandably demonstrated against Mr. Pompilou's policy of selling 110 Mirage jet planes to a radical Arab country while simultaneously refusing to deliver 50 Mirage jets previously purchased and paid for by Israel.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

The latest battle of the warring Wasinkis came over the subject of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Wasinski wanted a second honeymoon in the exact spot where they had spent their first. Mr. Wasinski wanted a divorce.

Bob Sylvester spent a weekend in a town so small they had to cancel the 6 o'clock news. There wasn't any. . .Bob also tells of a friend who paid $3000,000 for a four-room co-op because it's only three blocks from a subway station.

On the 8:27: "I'm beginning to wonder if it was such a good idea to give our son one of those rockets that blasts off for his ninth birthday. As of today, we've got the only cat in Bedford who knows what our house looks like from 300 feet up!"

THE DRUMMONDS

Cold War Thawing A Little, But Kremlin Is Still The Same

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — We ought to be cautious about swallowing the idea that all the perils of the cold war are gone forever.

They aren't, and we need to remain alert to them.

President Nixon is quite right in saying that "the world has dramatically changed since the days of the Marshall Plan" that "the 'isms' have lost their vitality," and that negotiation is replacing confrontation.

But the President never said that the Communists are abandoning their goal of extending their sway over as much of the non-Communist world as possible.

He said just the opposite: "We deal now with a world of stronger allies, a community of independent developing nations and a Communist world still hostile but now divided."

IN THIS CONNECTION a very revealing fact has just come to light to show how subtle, how crafty the Russians are in trying to commit the West to approving Moscow's assumed right to use force to shape the internal affairs of sovereign nations including its own allies.

It is all to the good that the Soviet Union and West Germany want to clean up the unfinished business of World War II by signing a formal peace treaty which would embrace a nonaggression pact.

But the Russians aren't ready to leave it there. They want a political dividend just for themselves. They have informed Bonn that they want the peace treaty to record West Germany's endorsement of the "Brezhnev Doctrine" which the Kremlin used to justify its invasion of Czechoslovakia.

IN OTHER WORDS, the Kremlin is demanding that West Germany, in signing a nonaggression treaty with the Soviet Union, give legal status to an asserted Soviet right to use aggressoin anywhere in Eastern Europe.

From the Russian standpoint, that's a good sale if it can get a buyer. It is to be hoped that West Germany will beware.

But it goes to show that Soviet hostility to everything that isn't in its own image and likeness reaches to its own Communist allies in Eastern Europe whos territorial integrity and sovereignty it pledged to respect but violated so horribly in Czechoslovakia, in Poland and in East Germany.

WE ARE NOT suggesting that the cold war is with us in the terms of the late '40s and '50s. Mr. Nixon himself is not a cold warrior any more. He is a warm negotiator.

The intensity of the cold war is significantly fading, not because the Soviet Union has abandoned its objectives but because it is more difficult and riskful to try to achieve them.

Communism is losing much of its allure with the developing nations in Africa and Asia.

Moscow is deeply preoccupied with its feud with Red China. It doesn't want to wage a cold war with the West and a hot war with China at the same time.

The Russians crucially need to put large new sources into their consumer economy. Hence, the outlook for the arms talks is quite good.

The Russians are meeting with the Big Four over Berlin; Poland and West Germany are negotiating on frontiers, and the Eastern European Communist nations are seeking to expand their historic ties with the West.

THESE ARE WELCOME actions, and Mr. Nixon is both stimulating them and responding to them.

But they don't mean that the Kremlin will neglect any attractive opportunities to exploit trouble at the expense of the free world. After conversations with Russian officials in Moscow several years ago, the late Adlai Stevenson remarked: "The Soviet view is that what's theirs is theirs and what's ours is up for grabs." He is still right.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

France Plans To Operate U.S. Airbase In Libya

By ROBERT S. ALLEN AND JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — French machinations in the war-torn Middle East go far beyond the sale of 110 fighter-bombers to the pro-Nasser military dictators of oil-rich Libya.

These unpublicized designs came to light during President Pompidou's discussions in Washington. As warily disclosed by the French leader, he proposes to take over Wheelus Airbase, from which the U. S. is being evicted, and transform it into a French-operated and controlled training center for not only Libyan pilots and crews but those of other Arab countries — particularly Algeria, Syria, Yemen and Iraq.

All are at war with Israel.

THE HUGE Wheelus Airbase near the Mediterranean cost U. S. taxpayers more than $100 million. It has scores of up-to-date facilities, including depots, machine shops, pipelines, communications systems and extended runways. Virtually all are being left behind. Only movable equipment is being withdrawn.

Pompidou contended this would enable France to "exercise a restraining influence on the Arabs."

There was no explanation just how that would be done. He was also silent on what and how much France expects to get in return for all these costly weapons and services to the Arabs. Pompidou did let drop two significant admissions:

France is confidently counting on important oil concessions in Libya, Kuwait, Yemen and other oil-rich Arab countries.

By training Arab pilots and maintenance personnel in French planes, France expects to become a principal supplier of all types of military hardware to the Arabs.

FRANCE'S far-reaching plans regarding Wheelus Airbase mark a new development in her Middle East machinations.

When Paris, after press disclosures, finally acknowledged it was selling 110 Mirage fighter-bombers to Libya, it was authoritatively indicated the pilots and mechanics would be trained in France.

Now, under the unannounced plans revealed by Pompidou, France will set up an all-Arab training center at Wheelus for pilots and crews from Libya, Algeria, Kuwait, Syria, Iraq and Yemen. Algeria, Syria and Iraq already have pilots capable of flying jets. So has Egypt.

As justified by Pompiou, France is doing this to keep Russia from doing it.

IF SOME MEMBERS of Congress had their way, the U.S., in giving up Wheelus Airbase, would raze it.

Since Pompidou's private disclosures about France's ambitious plans there, legislators are demanding that the U. S. institute a "scorched earth" policy in abandoning the costly strategic base.

Rep. William Bray, Ind., a ranking Republican member of the House Armed Services Committee, urged that in letters to Secretary of State Rogers and Defense Secretary Laird.

New Problem In Environment: Pitiful Plight Of The Pupfish

BY HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In a world torn with crises and dissensions, one apparently has been missed, according to the little quarterly magazine Cry California which is a staunch exploiter of environmental matters and a defender of pure air, pure water, and pure soil.

The magazine, in its latest issue, now has another important portion of the environment to worry about as the state desperately seeks to push its way out from under the dangers of the modern day pollution.

The pitiful plight of the pupfish is the theme of the magazine's latest issue. It seems the pupfish is in danger of being eradicated from the California scene, and such eradication would be a catastrophical loss to the populace, as the pupfish ancestors reach back into glacial times. Without it, the story of evolution could not be pieced together properly!

FEW OF CALIFORNIA'S 20 million or more people know that the pupfish exists. It is not eatable, nor is it reduced for fertilizer.

The habitat of this highly important link with the past is in a few springs in the Death Valley area, where it can be seen as an object of curiosity by those tourists hardy enough to brave the over-heat of this national monument for tours of inspection.

The magazine warns that "the story of man and pupfish is one which illustrates that even the simplest kind of tinkering with nature can lead to catastrophic results."

And further, "the manner in which we respond to this circumstance (time has suddenly run out for the pupfish), so isolated and simple in comparison with present and imminent perils to other creatures not excepting ourselves, can be a model for our approaches to weightier tasks ahead."

IT SEEMS that extensive pumping of water in the area has destroyed some of the springs in which the pupfish flourish, and one of the methods to save the curiosities would be to spend public money for pupfish reservations, in which the pupfish could continue swimming their lives away without interference from the hand of man.

"The pupfish," the magazine says, "may seem to be merely a drop in the biological bucket, but we cannot afford to let them go. Rallying to their survival is as pure, moral, and clean a thing as we can do. It will show that as people we are growing up, achieving reverence for life itself, and accepting guardianship of living things for which we have no material use whatsoever."

So look forward to a campaign to "Save the Pupfish", along with the other "save" campaigns going on throughout the state of Califonria. As Cry California predicts, we may one day be entered in a campaign to save the people, if we aren't in it already!

Loneliest Office In Civic Center -That Of Marin Transit District

Probably the loneliest office in the new Hall of Justice is the one occupied by the Marin County Transit District and its manager Seymour Kashin.

The public is looking to the Golden Gate Bridge district board to take over the job of providing for mass transit between Marin and San Francisco. And a provate firm in Marin City has launched a bus feeder system to tie in with the Tiburon ferry.

This leaves little to do for the Marin County Transit District. There's talk that Kashin is looking for something more active and may be submitting his resignation soon.

THE NEW HALL of Justice won't be going to pot after all.

Parks and Recreation director Pierre Joske had a good idea—grow some specimen marijuana plants for the edification of his grounds crewmen, who were having difficulty differentiating between different kinds of grass.

But the law stepped in and declared all cultivation of marijuana illegal, even in the interests of education.

"We'd have had to arrest him," explained a ranking official in the sheriff's office. "Why, I couldn't grow them myself without being arrested."

So the Civic Center grounds crew will have to be satisfied with inspecting plants being held for evidence in court trials.

A NEW S- CANDY - CIGARETTE stand at the main entrance to the Hall of Justice will be opening soon. It will be operated by a blind person under the state rehabilitation program.

Competition for that concession was something fierce. We understand that some 25 persons applied for the right to run it, and they held an oral examination to screen the applicants for the final selection.

Back in Jaunuary, Le Chalet Basque restaurant at 405 North San Pedro Road in Santa Venetia offered a free restaurant treat for the winner of a low-cost menu contest sponsored by the family and children's services advisory committee. The restaurant offered a free dinner for the "winner and family," figuring the average family would be three or four at the most.

Well, they've got a winner now. And Le Chalet is scurrying around getting ready for a banquet, when Mrs. Lynne Bishop of Larkspur—and her six lovely and healthy children—troop in to collect the prize.

Hoffman Wins English Oscar

LONDON (AP) — American actor Dustin Hoffman and the movie "Midnight Cowboy" have received from the Society of Film and Television Arts awards which are the British equivalent of Hollywood's Oscars.

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong was named television star of 1969 and the pictures he and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. showed from the moon were designated the best foreign television program.

Named best actress of 1969 at the awards ceremony Sunday night was Britain's Maggie Smith, for "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

In addition to Hoffman's award as best actor, his co-star Jon Voight was named most promising young actor and there were awards to John Schlesinger, the film's director, Waldo Salt, its writer and Hugh Robertson, its editor.

Kentfield Trustees To Talk Budget Again

The Kentfield School District board will take a second look at the 1970-71 budget when it meets at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School. The initial budget figure was an estimated $1,345,150 in income.

The board also will discuss teacher salaries for 1970-71. A 5 per cent salary raise would cost the district an estimated $52,500, and an 8 per cent raise an estimated $80,200.

Instant Ecology Experts Might Turn Next To Synecology

A crude cartoon has been circulating in airline operations offices and occasionally posted in their back rooms. It shows a sloppy character with a moronic, missing-tooth grin wearing the uniform of an airline captain. The caption reads, "Just think, six months ago I couldn't even spell captain. Today I are one!" I'm reminded of this cartoon each time I see or hear the word ecology.

It would be difficult to prove, I suppose, but my guess is that many of those who today are so terribly concerned over ecology didn't know how to spell it six months ago. But that's all right. More importantly, everyone now is aware that we have environmental problems. It is also pleasant to see that the young people are becoming involved. It's a darn sight better than burning down the administration building or smoking pot.

AT ANY RATE, the study of ecology is front and center at the moment. Tomorrow it'll be something else. It might even be an offshoot of ecology, perhaps synecology, which deals with the structure, development and distribution of communities and populations in relation to environment.

Seems to me a natural follow-up.

The population, growing as it is, has generated the study of synecology as a specialty to which architects and scientists have devoted themselves, searching for answers to a alleviate the problems of our crowded cities. Of particular interest are some of their novel concepts of time and space that would, if implemented, radically alter our style of living. The aim of these new concepts is to utilize our available space and time more efficiently.

As an example, we are accustomed to thinking of a work week of five days, Monday through Friday, with the week end off. For most, the working hours in each day are approximately the same and the resulting clogged traffic, going to and from work, is insufferable. Because most workers lunch at the same time, the restaurants are jammed during this period. On week ends, our parks, resorts, beaches and recreational facilities are overloaded, and practically deserted on weekdays.

THIS, OUR "synecologists" say, is grossly inefficient. To more fully utilize our work and play areas, as well as our time, we will have to have a major revamping of our concepts of time and space. Use all commercial buildings and factories on a round-the-clock basis. Stagger reporting times for those going to work, stagger lunch breaks, stagger days off. The results? A drastic reduction of traffic problems, a more reasonable use of eating facilities, and a spreading over the full week the use of recreational areas.

Tussling with more important and radical ideas, our synecologists are talking in terms of a total rebuilding of our cities. Here they have a number of views. Some of the favor underground cities, arguing that such cities would free the ground surface for farming, parks, airports, etc. Others would have us build "megastructures" as a solution to our urban problems—each city constructed as one enormous continous building. In it there would be dwellings, stores, services, offices, theaters, museums, etc. Everything any city has and all within easy reach. Moving ramps, elevators and a transit system would be within the structure—and no automobiles allowed. Such amegastructure would reduce the size of the urban sprawl and leave the surrounding countryside uncluttered.

Just thought I'd let you know what's in store for you. Are you ready for the coming revolution? The Synecological Revolution?

Zone Change Being Sought

An application to rezone from light industrial to regional shopping center the northeast corner of Tamalpais Drive and Paradise Drive will be considered at 7:30 p.m. today by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

Lucky Stores of San Leandro has asked for the rezoning to build a 100,000-square-foot Gemco Department Store and service center.

The board of design has postponed action on the plans pendnig further modification of signs, landscaping and the location of the service center and its access.

Husband Sues For Divorce

LONDON (AP) — The husband of Christine Keeler, the party girl whose affairs shook the Conservative government in 1963, is suing her for divorce.

James Levermore, 28, said he was charging desertion. He and Miss Keeler, also 28, were married in 1965 and separated a few months later. They have a son.

Today is Monday, March 9, the 68th day of the year with 297 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and the first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1947 one of the longest strikes in American history ended after 440 days when the United Auto Workers came to terms with the Case Manufacturing Co., in Racine, Wis.

In 1967 Josef Stalin's daugter Svetlana defected to the United States.

A thought for the day: American naturalist John Burroughs said, "It always seems easier to believe than to deny. Our minds are naturally affirmative."

Fairfax Park Use Due Study

Proposed regulations for the use of Fairfax Park will again be considered by the Fairfax City Council at 8 p.m. today.

The proposal, drawn up by the park and recreation commission, was considered by the council earlier this year and returned to the commission for revisions.

The council will also discuss a proposal for a county library branch in Fairfax, a Clear View cable tv franchise, and appointments to the board of review and design review board.

Bidding By One Opponent Can Tell Of A Possible Disaster

When a vulnerable opponent bids two suits despite the silence of his partner, you should expect him to show up with at least 10 cards in his two suits. You should not be surprised if your opponent is radically short in the other two suits; and if you are prudent you will take precautions against a ruff in one of his short suits.

CLUB OPENER

West opened the king of clubs, and South played dummy's ace without a moment's thought. East ruffed with the ten of spades, and South had ample time to regret his haste while East chose a return lead.

It was dangerous for East to return either red suit since South might have the queen. East would be save if he led a suit in which his partner had the queen or in which South had the singleton queen. East's best chance was to pick a suit and then lead the king of that suit.

PICKS UP QUEEN

After much thought along these lines East returned the king of diamonds. This picked up South's queen and drove out dummy's ace. Declarer drew the missing trump with dummy's queen, ruffed a diamond, led a heart to the ace and then led dummy's other heart.

East shrewdly played low, allowing West to win with the queen of hearts. West then took his two club tricks, defeating the contract.

East's fine defense shouldn't blind us to South's blunder. Declarer should play a low club from dummy at the first trick. When West continues with high clubs South should continue to play low from the dummy. Declarer can ruff the fourth club after refusing the first three tricks. South then draws trumps and gets the dummy to discard his losing heart on the carefully preserved ace of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

S - 8
H - Q 9 5
D - 10 8 4 2
C - KQJ98

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, planning to show the heart support at your next turn.

This method of responding shows a hand that is too strong for an immediate raise to two hearts but not strong enough for a jump to three hearts.

Session Set On Ecology

Marin civic and conservationist leaders will be among participants in an ecology "learn-in" Friday ,sponsored by the Marin County Council for the Social Studies.

The session, from 2 to 5 p.m., will be in conjunction with the annual conference of the California Council for the Social Studies at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

Donald P. Bowden, Terra Linda High School teacher, is program coordinator. Among the participants in the program, he said, will be representatives of business, industry, communications, education, government and private conservation organizations.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, March 9, the 68th day of the year with 297 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and the first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1947 one of the longest strikes in American history ended after 440 days when the United Auto Workers came to terms with the Case Manufacturing Co., in Racine, Wis.

In 1962 a coal mine explosion killed 31 miners in West Germany.

In 1967 Josef Stalin's daugter Svetlana defected to the United States.

A thought for the day: American naturalist John Burroughs said, "It always seems easier to believe than to deny. Our minds are naturally affirmative."

Fairfax Park Use Due Study

Proposed regulations for the use of Fairfax Park will again be considered by the Fairfax City Council at 8 p.m. today.

The proposal, drawn up by the park and recreation commission, was considered by the council earlier this year and returned to the commission for revisions.

The council will also discuss a proposal for a county library branch in Fairfax, a Clear View cable tv franchise, and appointments to the board of review and design review board.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bidding By One Opponent Can Tell Of A Possible Disaster

When a vulnerable opponent bids two suits despite the silence of his partner, you should expect him to show up with at least 10 cards in his two suits. You should not be surprised if your opponent is radically short in the other two suits; and if you are prudent you will take precautions against a ruff in one of his short suits.

Opening lead — ♣ K

CLUB OPENER

West opened the king of clubs, and South played dummy's ace without a moment's thought. East ruffed with the ten of spades, and South had ample time to regret his haste while East chose a return lead.

It was dangerous for East to return either red suit since South might have the queen. East would be save if he led a suit in which his partner had the queen or in which South had the singleton queen. East's best chance was to pick a suit and then lead the king of that suit.

PICKS UP QUEEN

After much thought along these lines East returned the king of diamonds. This picked up South's queen and drove out dummy's ace. Declarer drew the missing trump with dummy's queen, ruffed a diamond, led a heart to the ace and then led dummy's other heart.

East shrewdly played low, allowing West to win with the queen of hearts. West then took his two club tricks, defeating the contract.

East's fine defense shouldn't blind us to South's blunder. Declarer should play a low club from dummy at the first trick. When West continues with high clubs South should continue to play low from the dummy. Declarer can ruff the fourth club after refusing the first three tricks. South then draws trumps and gets the dummy to discard his losing heart on the carefully preserved ace of clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

S - 8
H - Q 9 5
D - 10 8 4 2
C - K Q J 9 8

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, planning to show the heart support at your next turn.

This method of responding shows a hand that is too strong for an immediate raise to two hearts but not strong enough for a jump to three hearts.

Session Set On Ecology

Marin civic and conservationist leaders will be among participants in an ecology "learn-in" Friday ,sponsored by the Marin County Council for the Social Studies.

The session, from 2 to 5 p.m., will be in conjunction with the annual conference of the California Council for the Social Studies at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco.

Donald P. Bowden, Terra Linda High School teacher, is program coordinator. Among the participants in the program, he said, will be representatives of business, industry, communications, education, government and private conservation organizations.

SALESMEN!
You make more where the action and advertising are the greatest! Naturally your sales . . . and your commissions, are dependent on your ability to sell. But. . .a large part of your leads come through your broker's advertising and the activity generated by the firm you work for. Doesn't it make REAL SENSE for you to "GO WITH THE WINNER?" . . . the firm that month in and month out leads all others in sales, listings, leads. It doesn't cost YOU any more to go where the action is. . .where the money is to be made.
Naturally all inquiries will be kept in strictest confidence. Ask for BILL NELSON or BILL TIMMER at. . .

IF YOU ASK US
we'll tell you that we think this house is the best buy around. Slightly neglected, in need of some sprucing-up (but nothing major), this home could be a top investment for someone smart. On a hill, with sun and view with considerable privacy, but with a big level yard, and very close to everything. 2 bedrooms and a small den, a big living room with a brick fireplace, a big kitchen. Seeing is believing at a very low $22,950.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
No. 48714

GLENN W. MARTIN, Plaintiff, vs.
A. CHARLOTTE MARTIN, also known as A. CHARLOTTE JOHN, et al., Defendants.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after March 18, 1970, at 9:00 A.M., at the Law Offices of Buresh, Garety, Vallarino & Costamagna, Attorneys at Law, 1615 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, Marin County, California, GLENN W. MARTIN, plaintiff, duly appointed and authorized by the above-named Court to sell the hereinafter described property, will sell at private sale to the highest bidder, on the terms and conditions herein stated, and subject to confirmation by said Court, all the right, title, interest and estate of GLENN W. MARTIN and A. CHARLOTTE MARTIN, aka A. CHARLOTTE JOHN, in and to that certain real property located in the City of Fairfax, Marin County, California commonly known and described as 290 Tamalpais Road Fairfax, and more particularly described as follows:

DESCRIPTION:

All that certain real property situate in the City of Fairfax, County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

LOTS 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31, in Block G as shown upon that certain Map entitled, "Amended Map of Fairfax Manor", filed April 8, 1919 in the office of the County Recorder of Marin County, California, in Book 5 of Maps, at page 4.

EXCEPTING THEREFROM AND THEREOUT from Lots 19 and 20 above, the following described parcel of land: COMMENCING at the most Easterly corner of Lot No. 19 in Block Lettered "G" as said Lot and Block are shown on that certain Map entitled, "Amended Map of Fairfax Manor", filed April 8, 1919 in the office of the County Recorder of Marin County, California, in Book 5 of Maps, page 4, running thence Southwesterly along the Northwesterly line of Tamalpias Avenue South 16° 43' West 49.02 feet to the Southeasterly corner of the said Lot 19; thence South 49° 42' West along the Southeasterly line of Lot No. 20 in Block Lettered "G" as it is shown on the above described map, 114.55 feet to a point in said Southeasterly line; thence North 12° 19' West 73.90 feet, crossing and subdividing the above mentioned lots to a point in the Northerly line of the said Lot No. 19; thence Easterly along the last mentioned line North 67° 23' East 127 feet to the point of beginning. BEING the Easterly portion of Lots No. 19 and 20 in Block Lettered "G" of the above mentioned map.

ALSO EXCEPTING THEREFROM AND THEREOUT from Lots 19 and 20 above, the following described parcel of land conveyed by Charles E. Ham,et ux, to Mabel E. Martin, et al, by deed recorded October 8, 1936 in Liber 329 of Official Records, at page 10, Marin County Records; being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the Northerly line of Tamalpais Road, distant from the Easterly corner of Lot No. 19 in Block Lettered "G" as shown upon that certain Map entitled, "Amended Map of Fairfax Manor", filed for record April 8th, 1919 in Liber 5 of Maps, at page 4, the following courses and distances: South 16° 43' West 49.02 feet and South 49° 42' West 114.55 feet; running thence from said actual point of beginning North 12° 19' West 73.90 feet to a point on the Northerly line of Lot 19, Block "G" above referred to; running thence along the Northerly line of said Lot 19 South 67° 23' West 30.49 feet; thence leaving said lot line and running South 12° East to a point on the Northerly line of Tamalpais Road above referred to; running thence North 49° 42' East along the Northerly line of Tamalpais Road 33.97 feet to the point of beginning.

Subject to all covenants, conditions, restrictions and encumbrances of record, taxes, reservations rights of way and easements.

Bids offered for said property must be in writing and may be delivered to GLENN W. MARTIN in care of his attorneys, Buresh, Garety, Vallarino & Costamagna, 1615 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: Cash in lawful money of the United States of America; ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid to accompanythe offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, insurance premiums acceptable to the purchaser shall be pro-rated as of the date of confirmation of sale. The examination of title, search, title insurance, deeds and all instruments of title shall be at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

Bids must be sealed and will be opened at the office of Buresh, Garety, Vallarino & Costamagna, at 9:00 A.M. on the above date.

NOTICE OF HEARING
FOR CONSIDERATION OF PETITION FOR FORMATION OF THE MOUNTAIN VIEW AVE. -LAGUNITAS PERMANENT ROAD DIVISION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Tuesday ,the 31st day of MARCH 1970, at 3:00 o'clock P.M. in the Chambers of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin will consider a petition for the formation of the MOUNTAIN VIEW AVE-LAGUNITAS PERMANENT ROAD DIVISION.

The petition provedes as follows:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF SPUERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN:

We, the undersigned, representing at least a majority of the landowners withing the proposed Permanent Road Division or the owners of more than Fifty Percent (50) of the assessed valuation within said proposed division, hereby petition your Honorable Board to form a Permanent Road Division pursuant to the Streets and Highways Code Sections 1160, et seq,. comprising all of the within described property.

The name of the proposed division so to be formed is MOUNTAIN VIEW AVENUE—LAGUNITAS Permanent Road Division. The boundaries of the proposed division are more particularly described in EXHIBIT "A", which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, as if more fully set forth.

The number of acres contained in said proposed Permanent Road Division is 13.6+, and the assessed valuation of such acreage, according to the last equalized assessment roll of the County of Marin, is $30,243.

The value of the improvements on real estate and of the personal property within the proposed division, according to the last equalized assessment roll of the County of Marin is $34,957.

The number of inhabitants in the proposed division, as nearly as can be ascertained, is 32.

The location of the road which it is proposed to be permanently maintained, is shown on EXHIBIT "B" which is attached hereto and made a part hereof, as if more fully set forth.

Respectfully submitted,

Teen Nabbed As Heroin Case Suspect

An 18-year-old Kent Woodlands youth was arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing heroin and reckless driving after an off-duty narcotics agent chased him at high speed through Larkspur.

Henry Iver Seiler, of 36 Turnagain Road, posted $2,500 bail at Marin County Jail and will appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The agent said that he saw Seiler driving his motorcycle erratically on Magnolia Avenue about 5:10 p.m. He chased him through the city at speeds up to 65 miles an hour, he said, and finally caught him in a driveway at 29 Myrtle Avenue.

The agent said Seiler told him he didn't realize he was an officer, and said he thought the agent was trying to run him off the road.

The agent said a search of Seiler produced a small vial of suspected heroin and that Seiler's arm had a fresh needle mark.

Rubbish Disposal To Be Discussed

Two possible solutions to rubbish disposal in Tiburon will be considered by the Tiburon City Council today at 8 p.m. in city hall. The plans, to provide debris boxes throughout the city and to hold community-wide cleanup days, are necessary because of the recent backyard burning ban, according to Larry D. Rose, city manager.

The council will also hear first reading of an ordinance which would regulate tree heights in the city when the trees threaten scenic views.

Variety Show To Be Thursday

A Portuguese variety show, featuring singers Maria de Fatima and Elia Maria, will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Popular songs of Portugal and its provinces will be presented. Miss de Fatima is a teen-age recording star, while Maria is known for songs defining "soul" in Portugal's national song.

The show is sponsored by the college's community services department and a group called the Voice of the Portuguese.

Hub Council Due Report On Flooding

A report on flooding in the Morningside Court area, one of the hardest-hit sections of San Anselmo during December and January storms, will be heard when the San Anselmo City Council meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

The council also will hear a report from Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Councilman Duane C. Ragan on progress toward a proposed youth commission, and will consider an amendment to the business license ordinance setting later dates for penalities to take effect.

$1,500 Boat Reported Taken

A 15 - foot fiberglass boat worth $1,500 was stolen between 9 p.m. Thursday and 9 a.m. Firday from a parking lot at Doug Dicker's Sports Car Center, 933 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police said today.

Tire marks indicated the boat was loaded onto a truck which had pulled up into the parking lot from an alley. A spokesman for the center said five men would have been required to lift the boat.

Out Of Hospital

Don DeQuine, of 1309 McNeil Avenue, Petaluma, was released from Marin General Hospital yesterday after suffering a concussion in an automobile accident about 11 p.m. Saturday, the hospital reported today. No details of the accident were avaliable.

Santa Clara, UOP To Decide Issues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For UCLA and Long Beach State, conference basketball action is over and the Bruins and 49ers are headed for a head-on crash Thursday night in Seattle. But for Santa Clara and University of the Pacific, the entire season depends on tonight's game.

The Uclans' Pacific-8 Conference play ended Saturday night on a note of victory-and revenge as they mangled Southern California 91-78, getting even for Friday night's 87-86 upset by the Trojans.

BOMBING

And in Provo, Utah, Long Beach showed why it finished atop the Pacific Coast Athletic Association with an unblemished record as it bombed Weber State's Big Sky Conference champion Wildcats 92-73 in Saturday night's opening round of the NCAA Western Regionals.

UCLA, 24-2, will be aiming for an unprecedented fourth straight national championship when it opposes the 49rs, 24-3 and winners of 18 straight.

Whether Santa Clara or UOP goes to the regionals for a Saturday night contest will be decided in tonight's playoff, at the University of San Francisco, necessitated by Pacific's 71-60 victory over the Broncos last Saturday night which threw the two teams into a deadlock for the West Coast Athletic Conference crown with 11-3 records.

TIE FOR SECOND

The Bruins, 12-2 dropped the Trojans into a second-place Pac-8 tie with Washington State, each at 9-5, although the Cougars' over-all record is 19-7, one game better than Southern Cal's 18-8.

Filling out the conference are Oregon, 8-6 and 17.9; Washington, 7-7 and 17-9; California, 5-9 and 11-15; Oregon State, 4-10 and 10-16, and Stanford, 2-12 and 5-20.

UOP's Bill Stricker scored 15 of his game-high 23 points in the first half to led the Tigers. Santa Clara was paced by Ralph Odgen with 22. But the Broncos' brilliant Dennis Awtrey was held to just 13.

Following up the Tigers and Broncos in the final SCAC standings are Nevada Las Vegas, 9-5 and 17-8; USF, 9-5 and 15-11; Pepperdine, 7-7 and 13-12; Loyola, 7-7 and 12-13, Nevada Reno, 2-12 and 5-16, and St. Mary's 0-14, and 3-22.

In Saturday's other Pac-8 finales, Oregon State gave head coach Paul Valenti a going away present with an 81-67 upset of rival Oregon and, in a regionally televised game, Cal slammed visiting Stanford 100-83.

NOVATO WRESTLER WINS NORCAL TITLE

Paul Roberston capped a brilliant Novato High School wrestling career by winning the Northern California State 141-pound title at the championship tournament at Foothill Junior College in Los Altos Saturday.

Roberston swept to the title with decision wins of 4-3, 5-4, 6-2 and 6-3, giving him 40 wins without a loss as a Hornet this year.

He was Novato's third Northern California state titlist. Kirt and Ken Donaldson both won titles for Ralph Cutler's wrestlers last season.

Bob Lunn Edges Palmer In A Thriller

BOB LUNN—His putt was good on 18.

Both Thought Arnie's Four-Footer Would Drop

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—"I thought I had made the putt," said Arnold Palmer. "It was in the cup and out."

"I thought he'd made it," said Bob Lunn of Sacramento. "I just couldn't imagine Arnold Palmer three-putting from that distance."

But Palmer did. A national television audience watched while the golfing idol of millions blew a four-foot putt on the final hole and let Lunn escape with the $30,000 first prize Sunday in the weather-plagued Florida Citrus Invitational Golf Tournament.

DEJECTED

"Well," said an obviously dejected Palmer, "we had it going for a while. It's the way I like to play. Only I don't like to lose."

Palmer and the bull-strong Lunn, 16 years younger and 30 pounds heavier than Arnie, were locked in a head and head duel for 36 holes on the gruelling final day.

Palmer had a 64, eight under par, in the morning round and moved into the lead, with Lunn just one stroke back after a 67. Palmer had a final 72 and Lunn a 70 for 271, 17 under a par. The double round was forced by the rained-out first round Thursday

The lead see-sawed back jnd forth between Palmer and Lunn all day, and no more than a single stroke ever separated them. And, going into the final 18 holes, it became a two-man race.

BIRDIE

Palmer took the lead with a birdie on the 13th, then bogeyed the 15th from a trap and it was all even again. He made a bad second shot, blasted out strong and missed a 25 foot putt.

"If I hadn't made a mistake there, that might hae done it," he said.

But the high drama was saved for the 18th. They came to it all even. Lunn put his drie in the trees on the right. Palmer was down the fairway. Arnie pitched on about 35 feet from the pin while Lunn bent a beautiful shot around the trees but left himself a 70-footer.

FOUR INCHES

"I thought, 'Bob, if you're going to do something, now's the time,'" said the balding, soft-spoken Lunn. He missed by four inches and tapped in for the par.

Palmer ran his 35-foot birdie putt four feet by the hole, then missed it coming back and had to settle for a tie for second with Australian Bob Stanton, wh had a final 68 for 272.

Dick Lotz had a final 68 and was alone at 275. Tied at 276 were Tom Weiskopf, Tom Shaw and Dick Crawford, with Bruce Crampton, Bruce Devlin and Howie Johnson at 277. Jack Nicklaus finished well back at 280

'GREATEST MOMENT

"This was my greatest moment in golf," said Lunn, who had won three previous tour titles and has been on the tour since 167. ls

"I'm just so pleased," he said.

"Arnold Palmer is the king. I was just fortunate to have some fans in the gallery. I didn't play him. I psayed the course. My putting was excellent That's probably what won forme.

"Palmer played just the greatest. He only made two bogeys in 36 holes. I just love to watch that man play. You can learn a lot watching him."

And it appeared that Lunn had learned enough.

ARNOLD PALMER—A painful miss.

IN EXHIBITION

Giants, Athletics Resume Rivalry

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Trans-Bay rivalry between the San Francisco Giants and the Oakland Athletics sprang up today with the two neighboring major league teams set to collide in an exhibition game here.

Giant ace Gaylord Perry was set to start the transplanted regional donnybrook. The Oakland pitcher was not announced in advance.

Both teams came off Sunday victories, with the Giants whacking the Cleveland Indians 14-6 here and the Athletics topping the Chicago Cubs' B team 5-3 in nearby Mesa.

GRAND SLAM

San Francisco was powered to victory with grand-slam homers by second baseman Ron Hunt and catcher Dick Dietz.

Hunt whacked his in a go-ahead fourth inning attack off Cleveland's Larry Burchart. Dietz pushed the Giants to an 11-1 advantage with his base-clearing blow in the fifth.

The Giants will be the host team against the Athletics, who erred a couple of times but still experienced little trouble in beating the Chicago rookies.

Jim Roland was credited with the mound victory. He was followed in three inning stints by Darrell Osteen and Rob Rodriguez.

EARLY LEAD

Oakland piled up a lead in the opening inning. It was never relinquished, despite bobbles which let Chicago score in the fifth and eighth innings.

In the opening assault ,Don Mincher scored three runs with a homer after Felipe Alou homered and Sal Bando was safe on an error.

After the game ,the Athletics disclosed that club owner Charley Finley, before leaving for his Chicago home, was closeted with holdout Reggie Jackson, but no solution was reached in their salary dispute.

Jackson, reportedly being offered $45,000, is said to be asking $60,000.

Marin Nines Win Four Out Of Five

After a frustrating start Firday, Marin County Athletic League baseball teams bounced back with four wins in five tries Saturday.

Only Novato came out on the short end, loosing to Terra Nova, 2-0. Meanwhile, San Marin, which hadn't scored a run in 17 innings, came up with two runs in the 10th inning to top Washington of San Francisco.

Marin Catholic whipped Healdsburg twice, 4-2, and 4-3, the second game going 10 innings. Tamalpais nicked Pittsburg, 2-1 on Clifford Hall's two-run double.

Washington	000	000	000	0—0 2 6

Cardinal Newman Wins Tournament

Sonoma High School's luck, time and hot streak ran out Saturday, all about the same time as the Dragons, the Cinderalla team of the first Top of the Bay Classic basketball tournament, was erased in the finals by old North Bay League II nemesis Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, 74-56.

The Dragons, who had dumped Livermore and North Bay I champion Montgomery in the first two games, couldn't recover from a first-half lacing in which they trailed 35-21.

Cardinal Newman thus carved out the title and its third win of the season over Sonoma. It was a fellow named Jim Wilky, a spidery guard who broke Sonoma's press in the third period, who did most of the damage. Wilky scored 27 points, but 15 of them came in the third period against a Sonoma press.

Burly Charley Lumpkins manhandled the boards for Cardinal Newman with 23 rebounds. Dick Romberg had 21 points and 15 rebounds for Sonoma while Dan Waldron chipped in with 14 points.

In battle for consolation honors, Del Norte dumped Livermore, 53-52.

Waldron and Romberg both made the all-tournament team as did Lumpkins and Wilkie of Cardinal Newman, Stan Ericson of Montgomery, Mike Jensch, Ted Halcomb of Del Norte, Don Jekns of Campo Lindo, and Curt Humphrey and Mark Lundgen of Livermore.

Sonoma Scoring: Dick Romberg, 6-9-21; Don Waldron, 7-0-14; Dan Briggs, 0-3-3; Cy Bihn, 0-3-3; Al Martinson, 1-4-6; Mike Gertner, 1-3-5; Jon Nordstrom, 2-0-4.

Terra Linda Wins Swimming Relays

Ever-present Terra Linda High School, surprising quite a few people, won the Marin County Athletic League swimming relays Saturday, piling up a fat 104 points and scoring in every event at Redwood High School.

The Trojans, who finished no lower than third in any event, leaped past Tamalpais, San Rafael, and Redwood, which finished second, third and fourth with 88, 76 and 64 points. Novato was fifth at 44 points, followed by Marin Catholic, 26, Drake, 10 and San Marin, 8.

Terra Linda actually only won three events, with Tamalpais picking up three wins, San Rafael two and Redwood two.

The Trojans set a meet record in the diving relay on 223 points, while Redwood, one of the title hopefuls, set a meet mark of 4:13.7 in the 400-yard individual medley relay.

Marin Foursome Sets 880 Record

College of Marin's 880-yard relay team of Don James, Luther Brown, Dean Deffenbaugh and Alan Lee set a meet record of 1 minute, 29.8 seconds Saturday in the annual Camino Norte Conference Track and Field Relays at Marin's new track in Kentfield.

Other highlights for Marin were Luther Brown's 15.1 seconds victory in the open 120-yard high hurdles and Don Makela's second place finish in the open two-mile at 9:34.

Team scoring: Contra Costa of San Pablo 112, West Valley of Campbell 103, DeAnza of Cupertino 80, Marin 65, Santa Rosa 55 and Solano of Vallejo 25.

Mrs. Hurley Wins

Tourney Of Champs Tops Sports Slate

The Marin-Southern Sonoma college and prep spring sports season really gets thick this week, but everybody's attention will still be focused on the last and best gasp of higs school basketball this week.

While most of the schools are busily engaged in track and field baseball, golf, tennis and swimming, the fans at Redwood High School will be focusing on the Oakland Coliseum where the Giants will face Bishop O'Dowd Thursday at 6 p.m. in what is hoped is the first step toward a possible title in the prestigious Tournament of Champions which runs through Thursday.

Television Time For 'Pistol Pete'

NEW YORK (AP) — College basketball's premier attraction, Pistol Pete Maravich, comes to Manhattan this week and the 33rd National Invitational Tourney plans to give the floppy haired All-American maximum exposure.

Tourney officials paired LSU, 20-8, the second-place team in the Southeastern Conference, against independent Georgetown, D.C., 18-7, for next Sunday's nationally televised doubleheader from Madison Square Garden.

Duquesne, 17-6, and Georgia Tech, 17-9, open the NIT Friday night, followed by the second game of a doubleheader pitting St. John's, 18-7, against Miami of Ohio, 16-7.

The NIT plans afternoon and night doubleheaders in the Garden on Saturday.

North Carolina, 18-8, battles Manhattan, 17-7, while Cincinnati, 21-5, plays Army, 19-5, in the day games.

Saturday night's pairings pit Duke, 17-8, vs. Utah, 17-9, and Marquette, 22-3, and ninth-ranked nationally, vs. Massachussetts, 18-6.

Oklahoma, 18-8, engages Louisville, 18-8, in a Sunday game after the LSU-Georgetown clash.

Independent Marquette is the top-ranked team in the tourney and the Warriors also have the best record.

Quarter-finals are scheduled Monday and Tuesday nights, March 16-17, with the semifinals Thursday night, March 19, and the championship game on national television, Saturday, March 21.

Japanese Boxer Dies After Kayo

TOKYO (AP) - A 17year old Japanese boxer died today of a cerebral hemmorrhage resulting from injuries he received when knocked out in a test match Sunday, Hihon University Hospital officials reported.

The youth, identified as Osamu Oyama of Shizuoka, west of Tokyo, was rushed to the hospital and underwent brain surgery Sunday night.

Earlier, the Japan Boxing Commission said Oyama took a hard right hook to the jaw and fell unconscious in the ring. He was seeking a professional boxer's license.

St. Rita's Reaches Basketball Finals

St. Rita's Parish eighth grade team of Fairfax will represent Marin County in the San Francisco Archdiocese Catholic Youth Organization basketball finals next weekend after scoring a pair of stirring victories in quarter and semifinal play over the weekend.

With Greg Giesen scoring 12 points, St. Rita's won the Marin title Saturday by defeating St. Anselm's of San Anselmo, 31-28, then came back yesterday to down Sacred Heart of Santa Clara County, 29-22, in overtime.

Both games were played at Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield.

Yestreday's triumph in the archdiocesan semifinals was a thriller that saw Coach Don Giesen's St. Rita's team trail by five points with 1 minute, 40 seconds to play. But the Fairfax team pecked away and then tied it up at 21-21 with three seconds left in regulation time on a pressure-packed free throw by Danny Trimble.

In overtime, St. Rita's kept the momentum going with an 8-1 edge over the stunned visitors. Arthur Brooks, who scored six points in overtime, wound up with 17 points, high for the game.

Time and place of the CYO finals has not yet been announced.

Seals Now Tied For Final NHL Berth For Playoffs

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Seals will take another stab at a National Hockey League victory, after eight fruitless swipes, as they host Pittsburgh Wednesday following an "almost" against the Los Angeles Kings.

They were ahead Sunday, but a goal late in the game lifted the Kings to a 2-2 tie. Ted Hampson had put Oakland on top in the third period, but veteran forward Dick Duff followed with a swift shot through a maze of players in front of the net.

The tie for the Seals, who are winless in seven games, put them in a tie with Minnesota in the contest for the fourth an final playoff berth in the league's West Division.

The Kings took a 1-0 lead over Oakland when Jimmy Peters scored on a power play in the first period.

The Seals tied it when rookie center Joe Hardy swept a pass into the net behind Los Angeles goalie Denis DeJordy.

The Seals returned to the rink in the afternoon after losing to the Kings 3-2 Saturday night following a long defeat-studded road trip.

Houston Wins 'Pitcher's Duel' Over K.C., 20-19

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston and Kansas City played only one exhibition baseball game Sunday but the totals looked like a triple-header.

The Astros finally won 20-19 after the teams combined for 54 hits good for 100 bases, eight home runs, and sent 12 pitchers to the showers at Terry Field in Fort Myers, Fla. The entire production took three hours, 21 minutes.

Natural elements played a part, too. A 20-mile an hour wind blowing to center field no doubt contributed to some of the homers. Puddles in the outfield left by a 4½-inch overnight rain helped the hits fall in.

METS ROMP

The game upstaged the world champion New York Mets' 17-7 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Petersburg, Fla. Those two teams totaled only 35 hits and used eight pitchers, including Tom Seaver, the Mets' Cy Young winner, who worked three innings. Seaver allowed two runs on four hits.

Dennis Menke and Doug Rader provided the heroics for the Astros. Manke drove in seven runs and Rader, 6-for-6, including three doubles and a homer, added five more. Pat Kelly had two doubles and a homer for Kansas City.

Rookie shortstop Ted Martinez and veteran Ron Swoboda starred for the Mets. Martinez drove in six runs with two homers, one of them a grand slam. Swoboda also blasted two homers, good for five more runs.

TIGERS WIN

Detroit and Minnesota also registered impressive totals in a 12-11 decision won by Tigers in the ninth inning. Jim Price and Al Kaline homered for Detroit while Paul Ray Powell homered for the Twins.

A grand slam homer by Bobby Tolan and a homer by Lee May paced Cincinnati to an 8-7 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox got four runs and then loaded the bases in a ninth-inning rally but reliever John Noriega came on and thwarted further scoring.

Seattle collected four unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat San Diego 4-2. An error by Padres' shortstop Tommy Dean and a wild pitch by Phil Knuckles accounted for two of the runs and the two others came on Roy Foster's double and a single by Jerry McNertney.

Jerry Morales homered for both Padres runs.

Warriors Continue To Slide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's Warriors, who came close to National Basketball Association victory before losing for the 13th time in their last 15 games, play Baltimore Wednesday in Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors held a 13-point lead with six minutes to play Saturday, but then lost a 121-119 decision to the Cincinnati Royals in a game played in Oakland.

Tom Van Arsdale, taking a pass from Oscar Robertson, put in the winning basket with 10 seconds to play. Robertson, controlling the ball in the late Royal rally, whipped it to Van Arsdale, who had a clear shot.

The Warriors now have a 28-47 record while Baltimore is 46-30.

U. Of Washington Drops BYU From Its Schedule

SEATTLE, Wash. — University of Washington executive vice president Dr. John Hogness announced that the school would drop Brigham Young University off its athletic schedule after the last home-and-home basketball series in 1972.

The long dormant issue about the Mormon school resulted in campus demonstration last week by Negroes and others who have branded BYU as "racist" because Mormon Church policy excludes Negroes from the priesthood.

The university also announced that Washington athletes would not be required to compete against any institution if the student "objects to participating as a matter of conscience."

The Black Student Union, the Seattle Liberation Front and their supporters took over classroom buildings at the university last Thursday and Friday, demanding an immediate end to relations with the Mormon school.

Figure Skating

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia — If there was a title for the most surprising performance at the World Figure Skating Championships, it might go to Julie Lynn Holmes, a 19 year old student from Littleton, Colo.

Miss Holmes captured a bronze medal in the women's singles, beating American rival Janet Lynn, 17 of Rockford, Ill., who finished a disappointing sixth. Miss Lynn had won the American title.

Tennis

HAMPTON, Va. — Stan Smith of Pasadena became only the fourth player to win the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association Indoor Championships two years in a row when he downed Thomas Koch of Brazil in the finals yesterday, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

Young Tiburon Netter Is Upset

Fourth-seeded Mark Rodnick of Tiburon was the only upset victim yesterday in the Boyds 16 age division of the Menlo Park Junior Tennis Tournament. He bowed to Brian McCarthy, 6-1, 6-3.

Among other matches, Andy Moffat of Mill Valley defeated Paul Tendelden, 6-0, 6-1 in Boys 18 and Bee Kilgore of Tiburon lost to top-seeded Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, in Girls 16.

Smith then teamed with Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., to win the doubles crown in a 15-13, 6-3, triumph over the top-seeded foreign team of Romanians Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac.

Track And Field

NEW YORK — Villanova's top miler Marty Liquori said team spirit "that is more like love" resulted in the Wildcats' fourth straight IC4A Indoor Track and Field Championship Saturday night.

The two-team battle between Villanova and Maryland shattered after the Wildcats struck for four consecutive running victories, gathering in 34 points enroute to a 41½-28½ victory over the Terps.

Golf

KULA LUMPUR — Ben Arda of the Philippines won the Malaysian Open Golf Championship by one stroke over Tim Woolbank with 15-under par 273.

Skiing

BRIANCON, France — Jean-Noel Augbert won the French Men's special slalom ski championship with a combined time of 90.36 seconds for the two runs.

Auto Racing

ROCKINGHAM, N. C. — Richard Petty of Randleman, N. C., shaking off two spinouts and a wreck that almost put him out of action, drove his Plymouth to a decisive victory in the Carolina 500 stock car race.

Horse Racing

ALBANY — Schatzi Pie, $6.80, captured the Golden Poppy Handicap over I've Benn Spotted at Golden Gate Fields.

ARCIADI — Quicken Tree, $19.80, streaked to victory by one length over Fiddle Isle at Santa Anita in the Santa Anita Handicap.

ANGRY SCHRANZ

Frenchman Is Winner

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — The fierce battle for the World Cup of skiing moves to Norway this week after the French, in the person of 23-year-old Patrick Russel, handed Austria a humiliating defeat.

So stinging was Russel's victory in the men's giant slalom Sunday at Heavenly Valley, that Karl Schranz, the overwhelming favorite to take the cup the second year running, put on a display that left veteran ski writers amazed.

THIRD

Schranz, who needed a second place in the giant slalom to clinch the cup, came in third behind his countryman, Werner Bliner, which left Schranz enraged. Bliner had won the first run of the two-run event Saturday.

Schranz jabbed his ski pole in the snow and complained bitterly to an aide of Austrian head coach Herman Gamon.

The 31-year-old Austrian veteran said Bliner should have slowed down to let Schranz place second, winning the cup. Schranz admitted to newsmen: "I was telling my coach that Bliner should have been told to go slower so I could take second and wrap the whole thing up" before the next Cup event in Narway.

Information pieced together on the slopes indicated the Austrian strategy called for Bliner to be signalled to slow down if at mid-course he was second behind Russel.

According to the complicated cup scoring system, Schranz would have won the coveted award at Heavenly Valley if Bliner had won the giant slalom — deriving Russel of badly-needed points—or placed third behind Schranz.

What it all means is that Russel, now with 145 cup points, can take the cup by winning the giant slalom in Norway.

Schranz, with 148 cup points, will win it if he places fifth in the slalom or second in the giant slalom. The scoring system counts only the best three placings in each individual event, meaning that a racer would not earn any points in a certain event, even if he did place high, if he had already had the maximum he could possible win in that event.

TIMES

Russel's combined time for both giant slalom runs was 195.58 seconds. Other times: second, Bliner 196.30; third, Schranz 196.72; fourth, France's Alain Penz, 197.93; fifth, Hank Kashiwa, Old Forge., N.Y., 198.99.

With Russel's victory in the giant slalom also came the Governor's Cup, presented annually by the states of Nevada and California, the common border of which Heavenly Valley straddles.

Penz, who placed first in the slalom, was crowned winner of combined results of the entire weekend of racing.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Farm Income, Expenses Form Reworded, But Much The Same

Schedule F, Form 1040, Farm Income and Expenses. While this form has a rearrangement of the information for 1969, it is substantially the same information and categories as required for 1968 and prior years.

This is probably the most complete of all tax return forms in providing space for the various items. However, unless your farm is a relatively simple operation, chances are you will have to attach explanations of various items.

If you do attach explanations, be sure to put totals on the proper lines of Schedule F.

For depreciation, you may need additional schedules to explain what you are doing and to accumulate the information necessary to fill out the form. Also, if you are on the accrual method, you may find the space inadequate for determining the entries to be made on the form.

NET PROFIT

The total net profit or loss is to be entered on line 14, Form 1040. Be sure to check the proper box to indicate that this is a total from Schedule F and also this total is put on Schedule SE, part 2, line 1a, and used in computing your self-employment tax.

Schedule SE, Form 1040, Computation of Social Security Self-employment Tax, is a new form this year which replaces the old Schedule C-3, Form 1040, Computation of Social Security Self-employment Tax, and Schedule F-1, Form 1040, Computation of Social Security Self-employment Tax on Farm Earnings (for Social Security).

INTO ONE FORM

Both of these forms have been combined in this one form for convenience of handling.

The old coupon which was attached to the bottom of both the old forms and which was detached by the Treasury and forwarded to the Social Security Administration for posting to your account has been eliminated.

Presumably, the Treasury posts these earnings to your account and notifies the Social Security Administration.

Completion of this form may seem complicated, but actually if you follow each line carefully, you will come out with the correct answer.

ADDITIONAL FORMS

Here again, under certain circumstances, you may be required to file additional forms if there is anything out of the ordinary in your income so be sure to read the instructions carefully before completing this form.

Self-employment tax computed on this form is brought forward and entered on line 16 of Schedule T Form 1040, Tax Computation.

Pilot Plant

NEW YORK (UPI) — Freeport Sulphur Co. has announced it will build a pilot plant at Belle Chasse, La., to make large scale processing tests on nickel-cobalt ore from the greenvale deposit in the Australian state of Queensland. Development of the deposit is a joint venture of Freeport and Metals Exploration Co., an Australian firm.

First Dividend

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Directors of Equity Funding Corp. of America has declared an annual cash dividend of 10 cents a share and a 2 per cent stock dividend, both payable April 24 to holders of record March 20. The cash dividend is the company's first. In declaring it, a company spokesman cited an increase in earnings per share to $1.99 in 1969 from $1.35 in 1968.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Smooth Sailing Is Forecast For Savings, Loans Groups

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. As long-time depositors we are now interestted in buying the stock of a savings and loan institution. Is this a wise investment at this time?—A.C.

A. The savings and loan concept had its beginnings in the 1800s but grew unspectacularly until after World War II. The housing boom, which carried into the 1960s, increased savings and loans' share of residential mortgages from 28 per cent after World War II to the present 44 per cent. A concurrent increment in their share of over-the-counter savings deposits was also recorded. A readjustment period in the mid-1960s, after a change in tax regulations and other adverse factors, was followed by sharp growth in 1967 and 1968.

More recently, savings outflow, resulting from the availability of more attractive income investments, has created a liquidity problem for many savings institutions. The Federal Home Loan Bank, the industry's principal regulatory agency, has eased liquidity requirements and authorized special 6 per cent housing certificates as a means of inducing depositors to keep their funds in the S & Ls. In recognition of the resulting critical squeeze on housing, Congress passed the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968. This act allows S & Ls to issue notes, bonds and long-term certificates of deposit and to offer participation in pools of government-backed mortgages. In addition, financing of mobile and vacation homes and home improvement was also permitted.

The outlook for this decade is enhanced by the built-up demand for housing, the increased probability of peace and the narrowing spread in yields on various income investments.

First Charter Financial is a holding company for the nation's largest savings and loan branch system. A 55 per cent increase in net income to $2.68 a share on a 10 per cent gain in gross income was reported in 1969. Savings outflow has not been a serious problem because of the wide scope of its branch activities and the small number of out-of-state savings accounts. First Charter at 12x estimated 1970 earnings of $3 a share has long-term appreciation possibilities.

Prices Are Depressed In Widespread Losses

The market had fallen back since the opening of the session.

The reason for the decline, according to analysts, was profit taking on recent gains, particularly in the glamor issues. These had been in the vanguard of the rally a few days ago.

One of the stocks to buck the trend was Ling-Temco-Vought, up 1½ to 24½. The company is expected to resume its acquisition program after settlement of an antitrust suit brought last year by the Justice Department.

Prices of glamor issues included Teledyne, off ¾ to 26; IBM, off 7¼ to 318; Telex, off 5¾; Burroughs, off 5⅝ to 140; and University Computing, off 1⅝ to 49¼.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange included Jersey Standard, off ⅜ to 53⅛; U.S. Freight, off ¾ to 24¾; Norton Simon, off ¾ to 43; Carter Wallace, off ⅝ to 24⅝, and Kresge, off 1½ to 42¾.

American Stock Exchange prices included Itel, off ⅞ to 15½; Ecological Science, off 1⅜ to 20⅝; Automatic Data Processing, off 1¾ to 39¾; and Potter Instrument, off 1¼ to 38¼.

Activities Increase At Yacht Harbor With New Sales Center

Activities have increased at Lowrie's Yacht Harbor in San Rafael with the organization of a new yacht sales center, which has four main participants:

Mooney Yacht Sales, under Corte Madera insurance man Addison E. Mooney (West Coast Life and Golden Gate Insurance). He has recently taken on a line of Newport trawlers.

North Bay Yacht Sales, under R. (Bud) Gestri of Sausalito, who has been a Ford-Mercury dealer in Livermore.

All will use the Lowrie Yacht Harbor telephone number for incoming calls.

MILL VALLEY OPTOMETRIST Dr. John W. Hoag has sold his practice to his associate of the past eight years, Dr. Gerald W. Belanger, also of Mill Valley.

Dr. Hoag claims this to be the oldest optometric pratcice in the country. He founded it 32 years ago at the same address, 158 Throckmorton Avenue. He will continue doing some relief and part time professional work, but principal plans are to engage more actively in wine growing near Healdsburg where he supplies some of the grapes to Windsor Winery.

HARLAN BARRY of Larkspur has given up his partnership with his father in the John Barry Insurance Agency, having been appointed administrative assistant for the City of Larkspur.

The agency, also located in Larkspur, is now under the sole proprietorship of John Barry.

S. EDWARD MATHESON of San Rafael has been appointed district sales manager in Northern California, Oregon and Washington for the area rug division of Aldon Industries. Before joining the company he was a salesman in the same region for Thomas Pride Mills, Inc.

WILLIS G. PAGEL of San Francisco is new controller for Tiburon Vintners, Inc., Tiburon (owner of Windsor Winery). He was formerly manager for the Rucker Co., manager of accounting services for Purity Stores, Inc. and treasurer-controller for Langendorf United Bakeries.

TWO NEW DIRECTORS from Marin serving three-year terms with the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco are Thomas E. Drohan of Tiburon (Foremost Foods Co.) and Carson Magill of Belvedere (McCann-Erickson, Inc.).

Reelected for the same term were William H. Johnson of Tiburon (Crocker-Citizens National Bank), David E. Matteson of Greenbrae (Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.) and Ernest J. Young of Novato (Bank of America). As president of the San Francisco Advertising Club, K. L. Rice Jr. of Tiburon becomes an honorary director during his term of office.

JOHN A. HART of Mill Valley, buyer of adult games and cameras for Macy's California, has been appointed merchandise administrator of children's wear. He joined the company in 1962 following graduation from the New York University School of Retailing where he obtained his Master's degree. Since then he has held several buyer and sales management posts.

Hart — Mrs. Anderson

MRS. DARCY CHINN ANDERSON of Tiburon has joined the J. C. Penny Co. as fashion advisor to its 35 Northern California stores. For the past 10 years she has been president of her own fashion fabric stores and school of design, The Rag Doll, Inc., in Connecticut and New Jersey. Husband Franck is a project engineer for Turner Construction Co.

Home Builders To Form New Company

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two California and an Airzona home building concern have joined with Lomas & Nettleton Co., a large Dallas-based mortgage banking firm, to form Braewood Development Corp.

Galaxy Homes and Calwood Homes, both of Van Nuys, and Feaufy Built Homes, Tucson, Ariz., the three builders, had combined sales of over $20 million. The new development company said it plans to expand current building activities nationwide and design, construct and market homes in a wide price range.
